First Domestic Issue Is Announced By Minister of Finance; Means No Taxation Increase As Interest and Sinking Fund Are Already Provided For.

British Columbia is to raise a $5,000,000 domestic loan—the first domestic loan ever raised in this Province, according to an announcement today by the Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance.

The proceeds of the loan will be used for good roads and buildings and extensions for the University of British Columbia at Point Grey. The selling campaign will start about the end of the year. It will be carried on by British Columbia bond houses and men, and will be similar in many ways to the Victory Loan campaigns.

Not to Raise Taxes

This $5,000,000 domestic loan will in no way raise taxation, as interest and sinking fund are already provided for.

The Provincial Government already has authority to raise $3,000,000 for the university. This authority was given by the British Columbia University Loan Act passed at the last session.

By this Act the Government is empowered to finance the interest and sinking fund of a $3,000,000 university loan by "the improvement, development and fitting for occupation" of 3,000 acres of land in Point Grey near the University. "It is considered that the time has now come for the development of this property as a high class residential section for Vancouver. Its development and sale will pay for the whole $3,000,000 university loan."

University Building

"The erection of the proposed University buildings will not, directly, cost the Province a single dollar, as their construction will be financed out of the sale of Government lands at Point Grey," said the Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary in his speech dealing with the University of British Columbia proposal. "These lands now are lying idle and unproductive, not yielding a dollar even for taxation."

Motor Tax Earmarked

Under the Good Roads Act, passed at the last session, the Government is empowered to borrow up to $5,000,000 for the improvement of highways and bridges throughout the Province. Each expenditure was urged on the Government by the Good Roads League, automobile organizations and bodies representing rural opinion. "These organizations urged an increased taxation on motor cars, and all such income to be ear-marked for good roads."

This policy the Minister of Finance has adopted and the proportion of the $5,000,000 loan that will be devoted to good roads will have the winding fund and interest provided for by the increased motor tax passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Want to Keep Money in B.C.

Bond dealers of Vancouver and Victoria met the Minister of Finance here during September and made preliminary arrangements for the campaign. The bond campaign would have been concluded on page 4.

BOLSHEVIKI REPORT

THEY TOOK TOWNS

They Wrested Perekop, Melitopol and Skadovsk From Wrangel

London, Nov. 1.—Several important towns northeast and northwest of the Crimean Peninsula were occupied by Russian Soviet forces as a result of fighting along the Black Sea front. It is announced in an official statement from Moscow dated Sunday. Among the places occupied are Perekop, Melitopol and Skadovsk.

The capture of Melitopol by the Bolsheviks represents an advance of about seventy-five miles south from Alexandrovsk, on the steppe, which Sebastopol dispatches last week announced had been evacuated by the forces of General Wrangel, the anti-Soviet commander in South Russia.

MACKENZIE KING SPEAKS IN WINNIPEG

Liberal Leader Will Open His Tour of Manitoba There To-night

Duff Says Public Waiting For Ballantyne to Answer Questions

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Liberal Leader, will open his week's tour of Manitoba with addresses here and in St. Boniface to-night.

Among those at the station to greet Mr. King when he arrived here yesterday were W. C. Kennedy, M.P. for North Essex, Ontario; William Duff, M.P. for East Glenora, Ontario, who will appear on the platform in this province.

Mr. King ended his Saskatchewan tour with a meeting at Humboldt Saturday. The meeting was held in the railway station while the train waited long enough for the Liberal Leader to give a twenty-minute address to about 200 citizens of the town and farmers from the neighboring district who had come down to meet him.

On the conclusion of his tour in Manitoba, Mr. King will proceed East in time to address two or three meetings in East Glenora preliminary to the by-election on November 22.

Mr. Duff

"The Canadian public are more anxious to have Mr. Ballantyne answer the questions which I put to him a few days ago than they are to hear an expression of my opinions on the matters to which the Minister of Marine and Fisheries referred at Toronto," said William Duff, M.P. for Lunenburg, N.S., when asked here if he had any reply to make in regard to Mr. Ballantyne's speech before the Navy League branch in Toronto.

"The Canadian public want to know what Mr. Ballantyne has to say about the sugar monopoly, the expenditure of the Roumanian and Greek loans, the money paid to a certain firm for repair and engineering work," he said.

The conference, the newspaper says, may be followed by a meeting at Geneva of the French and British Ministers of Finance, who may hear German delegates, called in a consultative capacity.

Mr. Morris was not prepared to say there would be a material reduction in the retail price of clothes in the immediate future.

Judge Archibald said this was more alarming than Bolshevism.

AMERICAN SCHOONER DEFEATS CANADIAN

Esperanto Wins the Fishing Schooner Championship of North Atlantic

Halifax, Nov. 1.—The dashing little schooner Esperanto, of Gloucester, Massachusetts, to-day won the second international fishermen's race and with it the championship of the North Atlantic.

It was as thrilling a race as ever has been sailed—a race through sun, mist and rain squalls, with never more than a dozen lengths between the American craft and Delawana, the Canadian schooner, and sometimes with the vessels beam to beam.

The Start

On Board S. S. Tyrian, Nov. 1.—(By Wire) —At 8:40 a. m. five minutes before the preparatory gun for the second of the international fishing schooner races off Halifax Harbor, Esperanto, the American craft, which won the first race on Saturday, and Delawana, the Canadian schooner, had little more than storage way. What little wind there was came from the west. A dredge which had put to sea in the early morning was observed to be making port again, indicating that heavier weather conditions outside were prevailing.

The fifteen-minute preparatory gun found both schooners on the starting line, with Delawana to windward, standing out on the starboard tack, and Esperanto heading up the harbor on the port tack. Esperanto bore away and on the stroke of the five-minute gun jibed over and headed out of the harbor on the starboard tack. Delawana, to windward, followed suit.

It looked for a time as though Esperanto would be ahead of the gun, but her captain had judged his distance wisely, and he led Delawana to windward of him, over the line on the flash of the gun. Esperanto crossed the line at 9:01.4% and Delawana at 9:01.3% of official time.

Delawana Ahead

Five minutes after the starting gun Delawana blanketed Esperanto and shot ahead.

At 9:20 Delawana had opened up a lead of nine lengths on the American craft, and had passed York Redoubt, off the western headlands.

The boats were now getting a better breeze, and every stitch of canvas was drawing well. Delawana, with about forty tons less ballast in her hold than she had on Saturday, was going down the wind at a fast clip, and rapidly drawing away from Esperanto.

At 9:30 Delawana had passed Sandwich Point and was getting a better breeze today than on Saturday, which was still inside the point. The wind at that hour was about seven knots, due west, and in the opinion of (Continued on page 4)

Niobe and Two Submarines Bought by Eastern Firm

St. John, N.B., Nov. 1.—One of the interesting deals recently consummated in Eastern Canada was announced this morning by Joseph A. Garson, managing director of the New Brunswick Rolling Mills. It includes the purchase of the old cruiser, H.M.C.S. Niobe and two submarines, the CC1 and the CC2, now at the drydock in Halifax.

The submarines will be towed here next week and docked at the rolling mills, where they will be dismantled. It is not yet certain what will be done with the Niobe.

The deal is said to involve a large sum of money.

Frank C. Garson, vice-president of the company, will leave soon for Europe in connection with the deal.

That the submarines CC1 and CC2 have been bought by a private firm and are to be dismantled will be news of interest to the people of Victoria, as Esquimalt harbor was the first base of the two submarines after they came into possession of the Dominion in the early days of the war. Since that time, when they were purchased in Seattle by Sir Richard McBride,

PREMIER TO TOUR INTERIOR VALLEYS

Hon. John Oliver Is Confident of Success Throughout Province

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—On his way to carry the Liberal challenge through the Kootenays, Premier John Oliver passed through the city on Saturday.

"Nearer, yet better in my life, or more confident of success," he said. The Premier is to speak at Golden in support of J. A. Buchanan, this evening, and at Windermere on Tuesday. On Wednesday he will address the miners and citizens at Kermic in support of A. J. Fisher, who is being opposed by W. R. Ross, a Conservative standard bearer.

Premier Oliver will assist Hon. Dr. King in a tour of the Cranbrook district, speaking at Cranbrook on Thursday night and Creston on Friday. On Saturday night he will speak at Nelson, where the Liberals are bringing out a candidate to try and wrest the seat from Dr. W. O. Rose.

During the day the Premier conferred with some of the heads of the Moderation party, but declined to make any statement anticipating his manifesto, which will not be ready till towards the end of the week.

"There will be no liquor act drafted," he will announce the general principles of a measure which we propose to bring before the House," said Premier Oliver, who is said to be receiving the written views of a large number of interests before issuing his manifesto. The manifesto, he said, will outline the Government's financial, railway and domestic policies, in addition to outlining the principles of the forthcoming liquor sale bill.

REPORT GIVEN ON RAILWAY DISPUTE

Conciliation Board Stands For Higher Pay For Western C.P.R. Trainmen

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—(Canadian Press) —The Minister of Labor has received a report from the Board of Conciliation, which, under the chairmanship of Chief Justice McRuer, of Winnipeg, inquired into the dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway and its conductors and trainmen on its western lines to the number of about 3,000. The other members of the Board were Isaac Pitblado, K.C., representing the company, and David Campbell, representing the men.

The finding of the Board is unanimous in so far as the major portion of the dispute relating to wages is concerned, the recommendation being that the dispute should be settled by the application of the so-called Chicago agreement of July 25 last.

In regard to other matters relating to certain differentials, Mr. Campbell, on behalf of the men, has submitted a minority report.

The hearing was one of considerable interest, as it is the first dispute referred to a board of conciliation affecting the six brotherhoods of railway men, which constituted the Canadian Adjustment Board No. 1 since August, 1918. During that period all disputes have gone before adjustment boards for consideration.

The employees, demanded more than they get by the application of the Chicago award, which has already been put into effect by the railways, the feeling of the Department of Labor is, however, that the report, although not unanimous on all points, may prove to be acceptable to both parties concerned.

Many Nominating Conventions Set During This Week

Definite Soldier Ticket Is Abandoned; General Clark's Position; Independent Candidates Expected In Islands.

To-night's convention of union men affiliated with the various craft organizations in the new quarters of the Retail Clerks' Association is attracting chief interest in political circles. Almost every man eligible to attend is apparently bent on putting in an appearance when President Pike, of the Trades and Labor Council, calls the meeting to order.

The outstanding event political of the week end was the decision of a representative gathering of returned soldiers that no official endorsement should be given to any soldier candidate by the various non-political soldier bodies.

Yesterday's Meeting

At a meeting held in the Army and Navy Veterans' rooms yesterday, which members of the A. & N. V. British Campaigners, Commanders of France, G. A. U. V., and G. W. V. A., attended as individuals, without official status, the following resolution was carried unanimously:

"That the non-political ex-service associations take no action in the forthcoming election."

The meeting was informed the names of Comrades Clark and Hinchliffe had been freely mentioned as desirable candidates, and probably would consent to serve the interests of the returned men in the Legislature if the Comrades so desired.

The action of the Grand Army of the United States in placing candidates in the field caused under discussion, several speakers expressing disapproval.

The policy and candidates could not be recognized as those of returned men, but merely of a section of ex-service men.

G. A. U. V. supporters declared that the organization was an important factor in the coming election. Its objects were, frankly, political, it never attempted to suppress that fact, and it was perfectly justified in testing the political arena and contesting seats in the field.

It was suggested that the public was afraid to trust returned men because they (the returned men) were not sufficiently broad-minded. To run a straight soldier ticket was declared to be inadvisable, as the people would object to be dominated by any one section.

The fact that two returned men were already in the field, that the major parties would undoubtedly have one or more on their tickets, was used as an argument against putting men in the field.

Definite support of any party was declared to be impossible, and candidates running on party tickets would be considered as party men and not ex-service men.

In Local Political Circles

In Liberal circles there are now being mentioned a number of returned soldier possibilities for the one vacancy for the city it may have open. It is not expected that Premier Oliver for some days, at least, will make any definite statement as to whether he will accept the invitation from the Liberals to stand in this constituency and in the meantime Col. Ross Napier and Lieut. Col. W. N. Winsby are mentioned as highly desirable candidates.

There is little doubt but that there will be a large number of soldiers on the Conservative roster when the party holds its convention on Thursday evening. King-George-R. T. Clark was this morning stated to be definitely withdrawing from any political activity at this time, but Col. Leane R. T. Clark, being much spoken of as a source of strength to the ticket should his name be added to it.

There are at present no less than a score of promising Conservatives being mentioned as possibilities, but this will likely be reduced to about a dozen by Thursday evening. W. C. Garson, R. T. Clark and W. W. Northcott have all been added to the list over Saturday night.

The Liberals have this morning appointed W. A. McAdam as campaign manager for Victoria city, and have also arranged for special accommodations for the Spanish Liberal workers in the Arcade Building.

While no definite date for the Liberal nomination in Esquimalt has as yet been decided upon, it is a certainty that H. C. Helgesen will be the choice, and a meeting of the Esquimalt District Liberal Association has been called for Wednesday evening at the Metehoon Hall, when organization work for the district will be completed.

PRIME MINISTER MASTERS STORMY GATHERING BENT ON ATTACKING THE GOVERNMENT

either. Does Mr. Mackenzie King suggest we should have told Great Britain to go ahead and make peace without bothering about us? There is no Canadian who would agree to that. At the consent of parliament was necessary does he think that before Great Britain had assented—and she could not assent without us—that Europe was to be held in a state of suspense for six months or more until a regular session of Parliament arrived? Mr. Mackenzie King frames his own premises and then builds his argument on it. He would appear always to start with conclusions, and having done that the rest is mere exhortation, a high and mighty appeal for everyone to come with him. He tells you we are reactionary and he is the leader of the progressive party. Can anyone point to one constructive suggestion he has made or measure he has advocated?

Questions.
"What about the tariff, what about re-establishment?" came the query. "I am coming to that. We have not spent a cent too much on re-establishment," replied Mr. Meighen, amid cheers. "Whatever errors have been made every step we took was ratified by a committee of the House on which were representatives of Mr. King's followers and upon the unanimous reports of that committee, and whatever mistakes were made it cannot be said that many and grave problems were not attacked and very advanced legislation put on the statute books. It is admitted that in progressive legislation there has been more passed in the past three years than in any preceding ten years. If we had failed to attack these problems or put under way large enterprises for dealing with great problems we might have escaped all criticism. But would that have been courageous?"

Land Settlement.
"We have laid out a land settlement policy," said Mr. Meighen. "You haven't got one. Not," came a remark from the gallery. "and we have got greater results than have been obtained in any other country in the world," continued Hon. Mr. Meighen. "I am talking upon a subject I know something about, and if some men will take the trouble to find out the facts for themselves, perhaps they will not dispute my assertion. There are to-day 25,000 men on farms in this country, and these men are succeeding. The percentage of failures is between three and four per cent, and the average value of production per man is $2,500." More interruptions and cries interrupted the speaker who was not stating the truth were heard.

—and of these men who have gone on the land several hundred have already paid back their loans, although they had twenty years in which to pay. The fact is that men have succeeded where the Government has failed. I would like to ask the gentleman whose voice I recognize, what has been done in the country from which he comes. We have more men on the land by fifty per cent than all those put on by Australia, United States and Great Britain. To-day in the United States where a number of men who went overseas was much greater than in Canada, though in smaller proportion to population, we see two candidates running for office and both are promising a land settlement policy for soldiers. I could do the same, but I notice the people of Canada prefer a government which does actual work rather than one that makes only promises.

Interruptions occurred at this stage.

Not Worried.
"Oh, I have been in politics long enough to not be bothered," said Hon. Mr. Meighen, laughing. He referred to the government housing scheme for which $25,000,000 was appropriated; to the $20,000,000 voted to assist the provinces in road making; to the $10,000,000 for agricultural instruction for returned men; and the steps taken to have that work economically and efficiently done.

"Is this government to be called re-actionary, while the party which opposes every such scheme is to be lauded as the party of progress?" he asked, amid applause.

"On the subject of re-establishment I am prepared to speak. I hope those who ask for it really want to hear me. I am not afraid to tackle any subject, suggested and I hope, you will not be afraid to hear me," retorted Hon. Mr. Meighen to more interruptions and cries when the subject of re-establishment was mentioned.

How To Avoid Trouble.
"I'm not going to contend that there has been a long sweep of perfect success in our re-establishment programme, nor do I contend that there have not been returned men who, perhaps, have not been properly treated. If you have 400,000 to 500,000 returned men to handle and have only human men in departments, not Angel Gabriels, you will have mistakes. The only way you can avoid trouble is to do nothing at all." "Canada is the first country to put a re-establishment system into effect. Some 49,000 men have been trained for new vocations. It has been argued upon me in a very fair way that in one particular our system is not properly arranged. I believe those in charge have done their best, but it is not at all impossible that the course cannot be made better, and it is the whole desire of the government to make it so. In all those things that go to helping the soldier to help himself, the door of this government is never closed. We have been willing to submit our plans to men of all shades of political thought and when they come in with their recommendations we have adopted them. We will continue that course. Is there any better course any government could adopt?"

SUGAR SITUATION AROUSSES INTEREST

"What about sugar?" came a voice from the rear.

"Someone wants to know about sugar," merrily remarked Hon. Mr. Meighen, amid laughter and applause pointing to the fact that sugar was taken under control a year and a half ago by the Board of Commerce. During 1918 the six or seven refineries in the Dominion had in the course of business ordered raw sugar in advance. After they did so the price of the raw material advanced, a shortage ensued and up went the price the world over.

"Nonsense," came a voice. "Of course, if my friend up there knows all about it there is no necessity to say anything further about sugar," remarked the speaker, who said the price of raw sugar had advanced from six and one-half cents

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unarmaged tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

to twenty-two and one-half cents. He did not even suppose the refineries could regulate the price of raw supplies in Cuba. Certainly the Government could not. The result was the refineries had sought to sell, not on the basis of what the sugar had cost them, but on that of what they would have to pay if buying at the increased figure. The refineries had appealed to the Board of Commerce for permission to sell on a basis of what it would cost to purchase raw stocks plus cost of refining, plus a margin of profit. The board had refused holding to the actual cost of the raw materials already purchased, plus cost of refining and plus profit. When the refineries had asked the board what they would do when prices declined, for then they would have to sell on the basis of cost paid for raw stocks, the board had recognized there was some point to their argument. It was intimated to the refineries that they should continue to sell on the basis of exact cost and when the time came when prices were declining the board would do something to meet the situation.

The Result.
"The outcome everyone knew. The price broke. The result had been that the price of the refined article in Canada had ranged as high as thirteen cents per pound below that charged in the United States at the time of the highest levels. In the United States the refineries had been allowed to sell on the basis of the cost of replacing their stocks. The Canadian consumers had paid from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 less than they would have had to pay had the United States basis been permitted.

"It was true the refineries made a profit, said Hon. Mr. Meighen, but he pointed out that when the break in prices came, and they came more quickly than expected, every cent's drop meant a loss of about $3,600,000 to the Canadian refineries. The refineries kept coming to the Board of Commerce and urging that they were incurring heavy losses for which no provision had been made. They claimed the board had held out to them the hope that they would be protected against a falling market just as they had protected the people of Canada against the rising prices. The refineries had come to him, Hon. Mr. Meighen said, and urged that the board had taken some $30,000,000 profit from them, and that they were faced with losses greater than their entire capital. He told them he could not help them, that he was powerless under the act and, furthermore, that he questioned if it would help them ever to have the authority of Parliament. The refineries then had gone to the Board of Commerce, without his knowledge, and secured the much discussed sugar control order. He, the West, he said, and the notice of the issuance of the order came to him the morning it was issued. He took action and within twelve hours of its issuance the order was suspended by the Government. It was suspended even before Mr. Mackenzie King had made one single speech on the subject.

"I know how eagerly he grasped the opportunity that order afforded," said Hon. Mr. Meighen, who went on to state that the Government had felt it proper to allow the refineries to present their case. Within twenty-eight minutes of the opening of the hearing the suspension order was made permanent.

The Drydock.
"What about the drydock?" came a question. "Now that we have dispensed with sugar, here comes the drydock. You know tenders have been called for. The Government has given its pledge, and we would regret from that pledge one inch," declared the speaker with emphasis, a declaration which was greeted by enthusiastic applause.

EXPLAINS STAND UPON THE TARIFF

The Prime Minister next turned to the tariff. The opponents of the Government on the Prairies, he said, have determined that the tariff must be the main issue. It was his duty, in view of that fact, to state just where the Government stands. There were but two principles that could be adopted, the protective principle, or to free trade were adopted. For two generations Great Britain has had free trade, but she had placed a tariff wholly on goods not produced or raised in that country, and is to-day raising a considerable revenue thereby, but she carried no duties on goods made at home. In Canada, and in all other countries, Mr. Meighen pointed out, the protective tariff principle is in vogue, and none of them has a lower tariff than Canada, where the average on all dutiable goods is 22.5 per cent, or, on goods of every description dutiable or otherwise, 14.66 per cent.

Protection.
"We stand for a continuance in this country of the protective principle, but not for a high protective tariff. I am portrayed as an extreme or high protectionist. I want to say no man nor newspaper can point to any sentence of mine backing up that assertion. What we want to do is to maintain Canadian industry. Is it not better to have such a tariff as will make it better worth while for industry to stay here than to move to the United States? The big manufacturer would be little hurt were he to move; he would make money, anyway, but our workmen would have to sell their homes. We would have a smaller population to pay our debts and face our manifold burdens. To that extent I would say we should go—we are endeavoring to ascertain just how far we may have to go; it may be we can go down rather than up. But would anyone say we should put our tariff so low that any particular industry must go? A little experience of that sort of thing would do a lot of missionary work among a lot of people who talk without experience.

MR. MEIGHEN'S SPEECH.

It was not to be supposed that the Prime Minister's audience would be ready to accept his observations without comment or even mild interruption. Those who heard Mr. Meighen on Saturday regarded him as the official target upon whom could be trained criticism or praise as befitted the mood of the moment. In the case of the Leader of the Opposition it was an entirely different matter. The critic of the Government of the day seldom fails to get a sympathetic hearing and Mr. King's official position in the political life of the country helped to provide what contrast there was between his own meeting and that of the Prime Minister. Nevertheless, all those who went to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday must have been impressed by the manner in which the Prime Minister met his somewhat difficult task, and the courage he displayed in his efforts to convince his audience that the Government of which he is the leader really is representative of the will of the people.

The Prime Minister covered a variety of subjects. Some of them had been included in his own notes and others were provided by the audience. He evaded nothing. Not even the famous sugar order of the Board of Commerce dismayed him. But it is a matter for regret that Mr. Meighen should have delivered so complete an apology for the past at the expense of even the smallest inkling of how he proposes to conduct the affairs of the country in the future. His observations upon the tariff rang with the old arguments with which the Conservative Party waged its campaign against reciprocity in 1911. The fact that he has not yet received the report of the Commission, whose duty it has been to tour the country in an examination into the whole question does not influence the Prime Minister. He is as convinced as ever he was that the tariff must remain as it is. The Commission of Inquiry might have saved itself the trouble to which it has gone, to say nothing of the attendant expense to the country.

Mr. Meighen's apology for the Board of Commerce and the sugar order was not at all convincing. The people of this country know perfectly well that the Board was composed of three Government employees who never would have perpetrated action of such a drastic nature unless the gentle hint had been passed along from the inner circles of the Cabinet. The Prime Minister enlarged upon the promptitude with which the Government suspended the operation of the order. This action in itself destroyed any idea that the Board was in the position of an independent body with authority to act as it considered necessary, or, to use the expression familiar with the Board, "in the public interest."

It was a pity that the Prime Minister did not devote more of his time to that phase of re-establishment which concerns itself with the placing of returned soldiers on the land. It is quite true that this country has done a great deal to show its gratitude to the men who made up that magnificent Expeditionary Force; but there is a great deal more to be done. Mr. Meighen's views upon an extension of the programme now being carried out by the Soldier Settlement Board would have been welcome. It will have to be realized sooner or later that while many men have taken up rural pursuits under the aegis of the Board, many more would be prepared to engage in the rural sciences could they obtain land either wholly or partially cleared and ready for the plough. The cost of such a proposal would be warranted by the immense areas that would be brought under cultivation while the country would be in possession of a developed asset upon which its surplus city population eventually could be turned with promise of reward for its labor.

Very little reference was made by the Prime Minister to agriculture in general. Five million dollars is the approximate direct expenditure for the present fiscal year. In other words the figure set aside for this all important industry does not exceed one per cent. of the total revenue. It would have been difficult for him to dilate upon the subject with such a niggardly vote appropriated. State health might have been discussed by the Prime Minister with advantage, and his Government's attitude to the care of those who suffer from tuberculosis would be worth knowing. There are many other matters to which Mr. Meighen could have devoted profitable attention; but his concern for the people of the country seemed to be absorbed in telling his audience of the benefits of Union Government rather than by the submission of a programme which he, as its new leader chosen by his own party, proposes to carry out during the interval in which the voice of the people is compulsorily inarticulate.

TO SUBMIT POLICY.

Premier Oliver said in Vancouver on Saturday that he does not propose to submit anything more than the broad outline of a policy that he would be prepared to recommend to the Legislature for translation into the statute by which the people's liquor will be controlled in this Province. The Leader of the Opposition demands a bill in order that the electorate may be in a position to frame its own opinion whether such a measure correctly interprets the will of the majority as expressed when the recent plebiscite was taken.

Mr. Bowser very naturally would prefer to see a bill in the hands of the public before the general election takes place. A mere outline of policy is not sufficient material upon which to construct a new brand of political fare at a time when he is really in need of constructive ideas. But he knows that the Government will have gone quite far enough without the advice and consent of the elected representatives of the people if it submits the "broad outline" which Mr. Oliver has promised.

The general public may be depended upon to ask all the questions that may appear to be necessary after the Government has issued its manifesto. No maze of legal phraseology would do more than Mr. Oliver's method to stimulate public interest upon a subject of this sort, even supposing the coming election were going to be fought out on the sole issue of liquor. Despite the efforts which Mr. Bowser is making to narrow it down to that he will not be successful in diverting popular attention from the many important matters upon which the Administration will make its appeal for support.

If Mr. Bowser finds the record of the Oliver regime so far beyond reproach that he must look for the possible cause of future failure to condemn it in the eyes of the people, that is all the more reason why his pressure for its liquor proposals in detail should not be taken seriously.

THE DRYDOCK.

Vancouver's morning paper maintains its objection against the building of a drydock at Esquimalt at the public expense. Now that the Terminal City has succeeded in launching a similar project upon private initiative it considers that while there are so many useful and revenue-producing projects awaiting aid from the Dominion Exchequer it would be criminal folly to waste money in duplicating an enterprise of this character. Nevertheless it agrees that there will be a general disposition to acknowledge "that Vancouver Island should receive an equivalent in the shape of Federal expenditure for its commercial and industrial development." Our contemporary is fully aware that the Skinner's Cove project has no relation to an undertaking which is about to be commenced in Vancouver under private auspices and with private money. Nor does it really suppose that the general public would be prepared to sanction a change in the Government's policy of national defence by substituting a programme of works in this part of the Province merely because federal expenditure is due. Nor does our contemporary conceal its displeasure at the fact that there is likely to be a diversion of business from Vancouver to Esquimalt, as a result of the Government's policy, in its suggestion that the most pressing need of Vancouver Island at the present time is the completion of the Canadian National Railway's branch lines. It surely understands that in the interest of the country as a whole and the system in particular the people's road will have to be developed in the not distant future if all its feeders are to be utilized. In the meantime, however, the Prime Minister has said that the Government will not recede one inch from its drydock pledge.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Among Wednesday's obituaries may be numbered the Irish question in the United States.

Hon. James Calder may be pardoned if he does not include his visit to Victoria on Saturday among some of his outstanding political successes.

In spite of the fact that the Board of Commerce is "out of business," as it were, the "public interest" is being looked after by some "unknown" agency which is sending the price of sugar down.

Major Lee Redman, Calgary's soldier-member, did the best he could at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday night. He knew the odds would be against him—and they were.

Reports from various parts of Eastern Canada indicate a gradual reduction of prices in commodities generally. If this sort of thing goes on we shall expect to see the Board of Commerce resuscitated.

It is estimated that the strike of Britain's coal miners may cost the country something like half a billion pounds sterling. When it is considered that this amount represents two-thirds of the national debt in pre-war days some idea will be gained of the country's power of resistance at the present time.

MACKENZIE KING SPEAKS IN WINNIPEG

eering firm. Mr. Ballantyne's connection with this firm and several other matters regarding which the Minister of Marine should provide satisfactory answers, or else his resignation should be requested by the Prime Minister.

A Challenge.
"I am willing at any time to meet Mr. Ballantyne on the public platform and discuss with him my stand on naval affairs and his method of conducting the affairs of his Department, not only with regard to naval matters, but also with regard to matters concerning the fisheries and marine."

Development.
"During my six weeks' tour of the four great western provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, I have obtained a glimpse of the great possibilities for development of the vast unpeopled areas of this country and the great natural resources which lie dormant in those four provinces," said Mr. Duff.

"In view of the fact that in the next half century there is no possible danger of Canada's coasts being invaded by a foreign power, and in view of the fact that for a number of years our financial condition will not allow us to spend money unnecessarily, it is my opinion that ever dollar possible should be spent in developing these great natural resources. At the present time we want an immigration policy rather than a naval policy, a land settlement policy rather than an imperialistic policy."

Conference.
"Whatever may be planned or intended regarding the Canadian navy, nothing should be done until after the Imperial Conference and other Parliaments have had an opportunity of expressing a considered opinion."

Political Centre.
Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—(Canadian Press)—Western Canada in this week the political centre of the Dominion. Premier Meighen is holding a series of meetings in British Columbia; Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will speak to-night in Winnipeg, and then enter upon a tour of Manitoba; and Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Federal Farmers' Party, will deliver his first political speeches in some months in Prince Albert and North Battleford on Thursday and Friday nights, respectively. The crowds which everywhere are greeting the political leaders are held to be evidence of an awakened public interest in the tariff and other live current issues.

Farmers.
Mr. Crerar's addresses are awaited with a good deal of interest. It is thought in some circles that the organized farmers are about ready to undertake an active national campaign in the interests of their articles of political faith, and that this week's meetings in Saskatchewan may open the engagement. There is much speculation also on the nature of the future relations between the Farmers' Party and the party led by Mr. King, and there are suggestions that Mr. Crerar's speeches may throw some light on this matter.

Candidate in City.
Herbert Wynne Davies, who will be an independent candidate in Victoria, issues the following statement: "Realizing the tremendous possibilities that are before us as citizens of British Columbia, and that our future depends upon the ability and capacity of those we elect to represent us, to wisely direct and manage the affairs of the people for the whole of the people."

"Also realizing that we have one of the richest Provinces of the Dominion, if not in the world, which if properly managed would afford a comfortable living to millions, and believing that our resources must be developed to relieve the burden of taxation which has reached the limit of endurance, and if the private interests cannot or will not develop our resources, we as a people should undertake such development through our representatives in the Government of the Province. I therefore call upon those men and women of our Province who are inspired with true British principles, and who are willing to work for the welfare of their fellow-citizens, to join with me in an attempt to give a just, fair and progressive Government to our Province."

Situation in Islands.
Sidney, Nov. 1.—The Liberals will hold a meeting in Sidney to-night (November 1) for the purpose of selecting delegates to the General convention for the purpose of nominating a candidate on Friday, November 5, at 3 p. m. It is generally conceded that M. B. Jackson, K.C., the member, will be the unanimous choice of the convention to uphold the Ministry. The Conservatives are also getting active as they are to hold a meeting at Sidney on Tuesday night for the purpose of selecting delegates for their nominating convention. The most talked-of standard-bearer is George Clark of Patricia Bay, but he has not yet spoken, and doubts will not make any statement till nomination day.

A Farmer.
George Taylor, of North Saanich, who is an ex-soldier, has his name to a notice calling a meeting to select a nominee as Independent-Labor, but whether it is official or only local, is not yet clear. Col. Carey, of Saanich Bay, is being named as a possible entrant into the political race wearing the Independent-Labor and Soldier colors, while Major-General Gwynne is also spoken of as a possible candidate in the soldier interests.

In the meantime the electors generally are sitting tight to see who are nominated and to examine the plans in their different platforms, the chief interest lying in the Government Control policy. It seems likely that the party bringing out the most workable and reasonable Act will have the whip hand over the other entrants. One thing is certain, that the candidates must come out flat-footed, as "political trimmers" high and low will get a poor house on election day. The Conservatives will hold their convention for the Islands District at Ganges on Thursday, November 4, for the purpose of selecting their nominee. After the convention a public meeting is to be held in the evening at Mahon Hall at which the Hon. W. J. Bowser, K.C., will be present and speak in support of the convention's selection.

Same rumor associates the name of Frank Scott, a well-known resident of Salt Spring Island, and a returned soldier, with the intention of running as an Independent, with soldier and Labor support.

Newcastle.
On November 4 the Conservative Association of Newcastle District, will hold a convention in the K. of P. Hall, Ladysmith, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the forthcoming provincial general election.

under way now; it was thought advisable not to have such a campaign on while an election was being held. The Government is now preparing to launch the domestic loan campaign as soon as the election is over.

"In view of the great demand evinced by outside investors for the security of British Columbia, I felt confident that the investors of this Province will oversubscribe the amount," said the Hon. Mr. Hart this afternoon.

"We are desirous of getting British Columbians to invest in their own bonds and keep the money in circulation in this Province instead of allowing it to go outside. There is a strong demand from the financial interests of the Province that the loan should be put out."

To Be Popular Campaign.
Details of the loan and the price are to be announced when the campaign opens. The price will be set then on the conditions of the money market, which is in a period of rapid fluctuation just now all over the world.

It is planned to have the bonds distributed in denominations of $100 upwards and the campaign will be conducted along popular lines like those for the Victoria loans.

the prospects for a domestic loan, the Vancouver World says editorially in part:

"The Minister of Finance and the Province are to be congratulated on the successful flotation of still another loan. The confidence of the investing public in this Province and in the stability of investments here. The terms are very satisfactory and mark the third of a series of loans which Hon. Mr. Hart has been able to place advantageously during the past few months."

"If he undertakes a domestic loan for road purposes he will find, given the proper promotion and publicity, that the people of the Province will not hesitate to advance the necessary funds. . . . weather sharpens the race would be finished within the time-limit. While Delawana had already demonstrated her superiority over Esperanto off the wind, it had yet to be determined what effect the lightning of her ballast would have on her speed when on the wind.

Edged Up.
At 9.55 Delawana was still a quarter of a mile ahead. Esperanto had held her own off Sandwich Point. A few minutes later the wind hauled a little to the south and Himmelman, as a precautionary measure, edged up a little to windward to avoid being headed. Delawana passed Mar's Rock buoy at 9.38, and Esperanto two minutes later.

Delawana passed the inner automatic buoy at 10.16.20 official time, and Esperanto at 10.20.21.

Rain.
At 10.47 a.m. rain was falling and the wind had hauled somewhat northerly, making it a very broad reach to the outer automatic buoy.

At 11.25, according to a report from the shore, the distance between Delawana and the outer automatic buoy was estimated at a mile. Delawana was still leading. The schooner could just be discerned from the shore, disappearing in the mist. The wind had hauled north-northwest.

Esperanto doused her staysails and jibed her foresail over to starboard. Delawana, a half-mile ahead, did the same.

ing faster than Esperanto, which, however, appeared to be pointing a trifle higher.

At 11.55 Delawana had noticeably gained on the American schooner and was on a course to leeward of the Shut-In bell buoy, the turning mark. Esperanto was a trifle to weather of Delawana but the Canadian craft appeared to be pointing higher. Himmelman's mainsail was filled like a board but Welsh's mainsail was flapping in the leach.

At 12.15 Delawana, heading four three points leeward of the Shut-In Island bell buoy, was estimated to be nearly a mile ahead.

Faster.
At 12.30 there was no change in the position of the schooners. Esperanto was still pointing higher and it looked as though Welsh was pinching her. Captain Himmelman was keeping a good full and his craft appeared to be footing a trifle faster.

At 12.40 Delawana came about and shaped her course for the buoy. Esperanto kept on the port tack, but prepared to come about.

Her position was such that she could not make the buoy. Esperanto came about at 12.42.

At 1 o'clock it looked as though Delawana had overshot the mark, but at 1.07 it was seen that Delawana would round In Island buoy ahead of Esperanto.

Official time, Shut-In buoy: Delawana, 1.18; Esperanto, 1.20.12.
At 2 o'clock the wind had increased to ten knots and both vessels were cutting through the water at a seven-knot clip.

Delawana appeared to have opened up a wider gap and was estimated to be twelve lengths ahead of the American craft.

At 3 o'clock, half a mile from buoy, Esperanto was half a lot ahead. Himmelman was keeping windward and the indications were would force Welsh to give him room around the buoy and be ab hauled on the wind to windward of American schooner.

At 3.05, with the buoy less than a quarter of a mile away, Esperanto seemed to be two lengths ahead.

Official time of rounding of automatic buoy: Esperanto, 3.13.09; Delawana, 3.15.09.
At 3.15, with the inner automatic buoy, Delawana edged to wind and was holding the weather leeward and with the wind holding, it was a long and short tack up the bay.

going to sweep out the tariff altogether? What good is the tariff if it does not keep industry in Canada? If we cannot get on a free trade basis, and 99 per cent. of the Canadian people know we cannot, surely they must concede any basis is the correct one. If, as Mr. Mackenzie King alleges, he would sweep away the tariff on the necessities of life, why did he not do it when he was in office?

Comparison of Figures

"I never criticized the Laurier Government for not cutting it down, although I know they did not live up to their promises to do so. For years the Liberals maintained an average tariff of 28.3 per cent. on dutiable goods, whereas at present it is 22.5 per cent. He claims that when he was in office Canada needed about $100,000,000 annually. To-day we need a revenue of $375,000,000 for ordinary expenditures because of our war war outlays, pensions, etc. He did not tell you here that he would sweep away the tariff. He promises to take care of industry. How? They are sixty-five factories manufacturing agricultural implements in Canada, but he tells them he will take care of them. How is he going to do it when his tariff is gone? Was I exaggerating when I described him as a 'fiscal humbug'?"

Continuing, Hon. Mr. Meighen declared the Liberal platform does not deny the principle of protection. That of the Farmers does. Mr. King is calling for free fruit, but he did not mention that fact when in Victoria nor in Yale, where the Farmer candidate, Col. Edgett, had but one plank in his platform regarding the tariff, sufficient protection for the fruit grower. Mr. King never stated whether he believed in protection or not.

A Challenge.

"I have dared him to say, but I never got an answer, and you won't. He wants the votes of the farmers on the prairies, of the manufacturers in the East, and of the fruit growers in British Columbia, and I don't doubt he will promise a lot to get them. You know whether I am for a protectionist principle or not. Mr. King desires to go to the country on two principles, under two flags. He knows he cannot go on either, but he hopes to betray both. It is that worthy of a great party? Is it not better to support a party that knows where it stands?"

Pointing to the fact that at the present time Canada is buying at a rate of $1,426,000,000 annually, Hon. Mr. Meighen quoted figures to show that in the first six months of the present year her purchases abroad were $712,000,000, compared with $451,000,000 in the same six months a year ago, and the year before much less was bought. To-day the 7 1/2 per cent. war tax is off. The adverse trade balance is increasing, and owing to the very great purchases in the United States the Canadian dollar is worth ninety cents in dollar currency, the people of the Dominion are contributing millions in exchange, an amount estimated by The Toronto Globe as $100,000,000. Was it a proper course to rectify that condition by sweeping away the tariff and allowing free trade? Would it not be better to maintain our moderate tariff until we pay a toll of $100,000,000 to the manufacturers of the United States?

Revised Itinerary.

POLICE BALL WILL BE BRILLIANT SOCIAL FUNCTION

Refreshments Under Same Roof in Seventh Annual Ball of Local Force

The seventh annual ball of the Victoria Police Department will be held on November 15 under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Col. E. G. Prior, and Mrs. Prior, Premier Oliver and Mrs. Oliver, Mayor R. J. Porter and the Board of Police Commissioners. All members of the force have been working diligently in the arrangement of the multitudinous affairs requiring attention in connection with the ball. Tickets have been on sale since October 25, under a committee composed of Constables Bishop and Florence, who report a brisk demand for admittance to the social event of the season.

A feature of the police ball this year and one that will appeal readily to all is the fact that the entertainment committee have arranged for refreshments to be served under the same roof as the dancing. This assures the patrons that they will not be a repetition of the past, when the ball was held in the Fair Grounds building in previous years. The ball is to be held on the main floor of the Agricultural Building, which will be lavishly decorated for the occasion.

In years past the police ball has been regarded as the opening of the Fall dancing season, and was treated with a wide fund of interest by all. The "Bobbies" do nothing by halves, and their annual ball has always been replete with merriment and goodwill on the part of a large section of the dancing community. This year, the committee reports an even greater interest than usual on the part of all, and they express the hope for the outstanding success and brilliancy of the ball.

King's Daughters.—The monthly business meeting of the King's Daughters will be held in the rest room on Wednesday, November 3, at 2.30, when all members are requested to attend.

Lace Club.—The Lace Club will meet on Monday evening next for work, the meetings being held on the second Monday in each month. Mrs. Napier, on behalf of the Arts and Crafts Club, wished to express her sincere thanks to Mrs. Macdonald and Miss Elsie Macpherson who generously gave their time at spinning during the exhibit of last week; to Mrs. Sinclair for the loan of the spinning wheel, and to Mrs. Murdoch for the loan of show-cases and tables for the display of exhibits. Mrs. Napier states for the benefit of spinners and lace-makers that the Hiker Manufacturing Company of Esquimalt is undertaking to make spinning wheels and bobbins to have two dozen ready for the New Year, thus saving the spinners the necessity of sending outside of Victoria for equipment.

Women's Canadian Club.—Instead of the regular meeting on Tuesday, the Women's Canadian Club will meet on Thursday at 8 o'clock at the Empress Hotel to hear Taylor Statten, the National Boys' Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., speak on "The Unprivileged Boy."

Daughters and Maids of England.—Preparations are in hand for the rooming sale, to take place at 921 Fort Street, under the auspices of the Daughters and Maids of England on Wednesday afternoon next.

SOAP AND STARCH.

An excellent soap for flannels.—One pint of alcohol, one pint of water, one ounce of gum camphor, one-half ounce hartshorn. Mix together in a bottle. Two tea-spoons of this preparation are required for every pound of hard soap, which must be previously cut up and dissolved in a little warm water. Flannels should be treated as follows:—First soak them for a short time in cold soft water, wring them out and rub on the soap thus prepared. Then pour on boiling water sufficient to cover them. Let lie until the water is cool enough to handle the garments. Rub them out of this water, soap lightly again and renew the boiling water; rub once more, then rinse thoroughly in cold water and they are fit for the line. Flannels treated in this way will not shrink and will remain soft until worn out.

A starch for making a beautiful gloss on shirt bosoms, collars and other fabrics.—Take two ounces white gum arabic powder, put into a pitcher and pour on a pint of boiling water; then having covered it, let it set all night. In the morning pour it carefully from the pitcher into a clean bottle, cork it and keep it for use. A tablespoonful of gum water stirred in a pint of starch that has been made in the usual manner will give the laws (either white, black or printed) a look of newness. It is also good, when much diluted, for thin muslin.

Half the charm of a salad is its coldness and crispness.

If you use a washing machine dissolve soap before using.

EXPLODED VESSEL TO SECURE REALISM

Wreck in "Dead Men Tell No Tales" Was Carried Off New England Coast

After several weeks of careful preparation, during which every precaution was taken to guard against possible accidents, the Lady Jermyn, a three-masted sailing vessel, last week was destroyed by fire and dynamite to provide some of the thrills in "Dead Men Tell No Tales," a new Vitagraph special production based on the novel by E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles" and other stories. It was a costly undertaking, and a somewhat dangerous one, but the entire programme went through without mishap and the results were eminently satisfactory.

The Lady Jermyn, originally the Hazard, was purchased by Vitagraph especially for use in "Dead Men Tell No Tales." She was nearly two hundred feet in length, and while built in 1875, was still staunch. She was a little old-fashioned for present trade, but just the type of sailing vessel described in the story. When set afire she burned for hours, and while the heavy charge of dynamite caused the collapse of her masts and broke her in two, the hulk floated for some time.

Taken From Story
The destruction of the Lady Jermyn quite naturally was the final scene taken for "Dead Men Tell No Tales," although the big scene occurs early in the picture. All the previous ship action was taken on her decks and in her cabins while the ship was anchored up the Hudson River, opposite Riverdale, N. Y. The scenes were taken at night. Director Tom Terris desiring to get them just as described in the book. Finally the ship was taken to a point off the Long Island shore, ten miles from New York, for the big scene. An ideal location was found on Long Island Sound. Along the beach, about fifty feet back from the water line, rises a high bluff which furnished a splendid point of vantage for some of the twelve motion picture cameras which took the scene from various angles. Other cameras were placed along the shore for "close-ups," the cameramen taking chances with flying debris from the ship, less than two hundred feet from the shore. A small army of Vitaphone men worked for two days and two nights at the location to get the ship in readiness. Eighty pounds of dynamite were placed in the hold of the Lady Jermyn, several hundred gallons of kerosene and gasoline were splashed on her decks and sails, and a quantity of black powder placed on the deck, forward. The powder and dynamite were exploded by means of electric cables connected with the shore. The Government sent a customs official to see that no Federal law was violated and the Sheriff of Suffolk County sent a deputy, Albert E. Smith, President of Vitaphone, spent half the night at the location awaiting the fire and explosion, which took place just at daybreak.

Mass of Flames
At a signal from Director Terris the black powder was fired and soon the ship was a mass of flames. Then, at another signal, came the big explosion. The big ship seemed to rise from the water and then settle back. Burning wood flew high in the air and then fell in a shower on the water and shore, fortunately missing all the workers. The powerful blast shook the bluff, but it didn't cave in, as had been feared. The noise of the explosion echoed and rebounded across the bay and the three masts fell, majestically, slowly, one after the other, just as if they had been rehearsed in the part.

Several thousands of dollars had gone up in smoke, men had worked for hours in the cold and dark, some had risked pneumonia from wet clothes, and all had worried as the scene could not have been taken over again if anything had gone wrong, but motion picture lovers had been provided with another thrill. The only regret was that Catherine Calvert, Percy Marmont, George V. Seiffert, Holmes E. Herbert, Roy Applegate and all others in the cast of "Dead Men Tell No Tales," who had spent so much time on the Lady Jermyn, could not have been present at her final scene.

COL. NAPIER TALKS ON SOLDIER PARTY

Addressed Crowded Meeting
at G. W. V. A. Rooms Last Saturday

A crowded hall greeted Comrade Napier when he rose to address the smoker at the G. W. V. A. Club Rooms on Saturday night. On commencing to address the comrades, he emphasized the fact that during his twenty years' residence in B. C. he had taken no active part in politics, but now things had changed as he had invested heavily in a large firm and that firm was "Canada Unlimited." His investment consisted of one arm and a leg which will never be right. He stated that during his travels across Canada, which were nine times since his return from active service, that the majority of public opinion was out for a prosperous and peaceful government, free from party politics. They were also in sympathy and league with the returned men. "We have been given a great trust and it is up to the returned men to live up to it as citizens of Canada, as we have the highest ideals which we fought for. Some method has to be found and the majority of the public are looking for the returned soldiers themselves to find it," he stated.

In the first place the ex-service man has to impress upon the mass of public opinion that the ex-soldier is not out for himself but for the good of the country as a whole and returned soldiers in general, he continued. The returned men did not stand for themselves overseas, but for Canada, the British Empire and the highest ideals. The greatest of these ideals was self-sacrifice, and none were in a position to know the real meaning of these words more than the returned men, who would not break faith with the comrades left behind. The majority of the returned men were out for a good, honest government, composed of trustworthy men of good sound principle, who were willing to go down to defeat if necessary with their colors flying.

"British Columbia welcomes all comers, and especially our ex-comrades, but the influx of returned men to B. C. from other provinces has been so great that the unemployment situation in B. C. during the coming winter in a financial way and thus help to relieve the burden of the Province," stated the speaker.

Numerous artists appeared on the programme, the star event being that of Comrades Impett and Marshall, who appeared in a double turn. Other artists included Comrades George Potter, R. R. Webb, Chairman, Skinner and others. The G. W. V. A.

FOUR PASSED AS CANADIANS

Fifth Applicant For Citizenship Could Not Get in From Farm

Three European nationalities were represented by the persons who were passed for naturalization as Canadian citizens by Judge Lampman, of the County Court to-day.

Peter John Johnson, born in Sweden, was brought up by R. C. Lowe, who introduced the testimony of J. O. Cameron of the Cameron Lumber Co., that Mr. Johnson "is a good conscientious workman." He has charge of the furnace department of the Cameron Mills.

David Murray went in the box and swore that Mr. Johnson had proved himself a good cook at the Atlantic Hotel, John W. Gillis, of the New England Meat Market, testified that the applicant has been a useful citizen, and always pays his bills.

Louis Pauly, foreman of the Victoria Gas Co., for the last fourteen years, said that he was born in France, when he was called to be questioned about his application.

"He has a splendid character and is a splendid type of man," said J. Halls, manager of the lighting and power department of the B. C. Electric Co.

Per Junius Gardin, of Salt Spring Island was called, but Mr. Gardin could not get down to Victoria from his farm to-day, and his public appearance was postponed to November 12.

Henry Siebenbaum was then called. He swore that he was born in Schleswig-Holstein. He was brought into court by W. H. Price to guarantee his character.

"That was part of Denmark then?" the judge asked.

"Yes your honor," replied Mr. Siebenbaum.

Mr. Siebenbaum swore that he had become an American citizen in 1893, and has lived here for twenty-seven years.

"Has anybody any objection to Mr. Siebenbaum's naturalization?" asked the judge.

As there was no objection the judge passed the papers.

Margaret J. Joubin, of Gordon Head, who was born in France, appeared before the judge. She was accompanied by B. A. McEwen, secretary of the Veterans of France, who went into the box and guaranteed that she was of good character.

LAMBETH CONFERENCE CONSIDER RE-UNION OF ALL CHRISTIANS

Bishop Schofield Tells of Famous World Gathering
Held in England

Mutual concessions by which each branch of the Christian Churches would recognize the deeply held principles of the other branches is the basis of the Lambeth Conference plan for the re-union of Christendom. The appeal of the Lambeth Conference to the Christian world, and the probable outcome of it were fully discussed in a sermon at the Christ Church Cathedral last night by the Right Rev. C. de V. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, who has just recently returned from the United Kingdom, where he has been attending the Lambeth Conference.

In an absorbingly interesting address, the Bishop traced the movement, which began at the very outset of the sessions and after the matter had been discussed by a committee of 70 Bishops, the largest committee of Bishops that has ever sat at a Lambeth Conference, culminated in the appeal issued a short time ago, which appeal was the most striking contribution to the cause of Christian re-union in years.

The Bishop explained that after casting aside proposals for absorption and federation as possible sources of re-union, the conference decided that the only possible scheme was one in which there would be evidence of visible union, with no branch of the church being called upon to surrender any of those things which in the past considered vital, and with each extending a broad recognition of the principles of the other branches.

Thus while the Anglican Church would never abandon the Episcopate, but would ask all other branches to recognize it, it in turn would be prepared to make very great concessions in recognizing the non-Episcopal ministries of the other branches, and would make equally great concessions to the ministries of other branches.

An educational and practical text is "Principles in Bookkeeping" by G. W. Milner and F. H. Elwell. It is an elementary book, being the simple practical study of the basic facts of bookkeeping in a manner that will command the interest of the pupil and impress on the mind the methods and practices of the office and the duties, technical knowledge and vocabulary of bookkeeper and accountant. This book will go very far in the making of an efficient, well-informed bookkeeper.

Another recent text of value to the student entering a commercial career is Fred J. Nery's "Bookkeeping Simplified." It presents various methods all based on Double Entry Bookkeeping, the only system which ensures the complete and accurate record of one's business affairs. The book explains the principle of Double Entry, it gives exercises in partnership and departmental accounting and joint accounting, with a large collection of examination papers.

"Short Cuts." The modern business man seeks "short cuts." To him bookkeeping is simply a record of transactions, Joseph K. Klein in his book "Bookkeeping and Accounting" believes he has simplified bookkeeping, so that it can be learned easily and quickly, while retaining its comprehensive nature. The book is adapted to all situations requiring a bookkeeping text. It is for all types of students and for the business man who wishes to understand bookkeeping rather than to practice it.

Bexell and Nichols in "Principles of Bookkeeping and Farm Accounts" give methods for the student, and include a series of lessons on farm accounting.

To the student of auditing and to the beginning practitioner, Wm. B. Castenholz offers text "Auditing Procedure." He aims to cover the various accounts that must be examined and analysed in an audit, and the reasons for such inspection. He outlines actual methods that give satisfactory results. Not what and why, but how, that is the essential message of this book.

Cost Accounting.

One of the vital factors of successful business administration is the comparatively new study of cost accounting, which is becoming the rule in all intelligently conducted industries. Its principal functions are to ascertain actual costs, and to supply, in its system of reports, the information necessary to develop and organize business. Lee Nicholson and John Rohrbach, in their book "Cost Accounting," give the classification of the details of cost accounting, for accountant, manufacturer, and student. A well-defined idea is given of the forms and records required for each separate operation.

"Cost Accounting and Burden Application" by Clinton Scovell is from first to last a statement of the principles which should be observed by every business man or his accountant in analysing and controlling the cost of doing business. It combines the accountant's practical knowledge with sound economic theories. The author examines the elements of cost, defines principles, and describes methods of procedure in the development of cost accounting practice, particularly in respect to the determination and application of overhead charges or burden.

Another comprehensive and practical presentation of the general principles of cost accounting is Frederick Baugh's "Principles and Practice of Cost Accounting." The author deals with the application of these principles in general manner, illustrating the details of procedure.

Cost accounting helps managers to answer three sorts of questions: How may prices be adjusted for service rendered? Does the utmost economy prevail in production and service, if not, how may one trace the waste? Had certain work best be performed in the establishment or outside? These problems have to be faced not only by business organizations, but by institutions such as hospitals, hotels and clubs. William Cole in his "Cost Accounting for Institutions," applies the principles of cost accounting in certain specific types of institutions such as these.

A standard book on accounting practice in R. B. Kester's "Accounting Theory and Practice." It offers a thorough knowledge, not a bird's eye view of the principles of accounting and their application. The balance sheet and profit and loss statement are presented first, as the goal towards which all record-keeping looks. The student is taught to analyse business facts and conditions, and is led step by step to the keeping of the ledger. The various subjects are treated broadly and intensively.

For Special Needs.

Another Standard work is Paul Joseph Esquerre's "Applied Theory of Accounts." The student of accounting, says the author, cannot be trusted with the finances of a business until he has mastered the theory of accounting. The book is a conscientious presentation of the main principles of this science, for the use of the student.

"Modern Accounting," its principles and some of its problems, is considered by Henry Rand Hatfield. The author emphasizes the purposes of accounts, the presentation of the status of a business, and the determination of its profits. The book discusses the form and meaning of the Balance Sheet and Profit and Loss Statement, in a thorough and efficient manner.

A book for the general student is "Principles of Accounting," by William Paton and Russell Stevenson. It also affords the proper basis for specialized work in professional accountancy. The authors present their subject without discussing the details of specific systems of bookkeeping and office methods.

In addition to these books, the library has also a number of works dealing with accounting in various businesses such as the grocery business, the wood-working industry. These books are listed above.

LETTER FROM MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time, and had no ambition to do anything or go any place. My nerves were in bad shape, I could not sleep at night, and then came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and several of my friends advised me to use it, and it surely put new life into me. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."—Mrs. CHARLES W. WAKELIN, 272 Christie St., Toronto, Ont.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as the above they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for more than forty years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential), Lynn, Mass.

OREGON LEADS WAY IN PUBLIC HEALTH

State Is Making Investigation Into Misfits of Society and Their Causes

Washington, Nov. 1.—For the first time in American history the citizens of a State, directed by a representative of the U. S. Public Health Service, are by voluntary service, with almost no money, carrying out a successful State-wide investigation into the numbers and conditions of the misfits and down-and-outers of the community. The State is Oregon and the classes investigated are the dependent, delinquent, and mentally deficient. The work is not yet complete, but according to Surgeon-General Cumming, of the Public Health Service, enough has been done to show that the results will vie with that of similar work done in other States by a trained official force.

Dr. Cumming, in fact, thinks that it is amazing that the public could be brought to take such interest in such abstruse work and considers that Oregon's example might well be followed by other States where similar work is hanging fire because of the lack of money.

About a year ago the legislature of Oregon, at the instance of A. R. Gephart, secretary of the Public Welfare Board, authorized the University of Oregon to investigate these classes, which in every other State, were known to be a source of weakness from their inability either to work or fight. The hope was that a good part of the might be reclaimed and the State freed from a constant drain on its finances, health, and morality and from a source of social and political unrest.

The legislature, however, appropriated no money for the work, and the University found that its funds would not be sufficient. So in February last it asked aid of the Surgeon-General, who sent Dr. C. L. Carls to Oregon as special assistant in the work.

Heavy Task.

"The task," said the Surgeon-General, "was not an easy one. As in most States only small percentages of these classes were being cared for in institutions and the rest were scattered and went almost unnoticed, for most of them were quiet and did not call attention to themselves as do the actually insane and criminal classes. Finding them was therefore the first requisite."

"As there was little money to pay trained workers, Dr. Carls quickly discovered that the only hope for success lay in enlisting the help of the people. He began by sending about 8,000 form letters (followed later by thousands more) to college professors, University students who were about to go on vacations, editors, lawyers, doctors, ministers, priests, and other prominent citizens, explaining the need for the work and asking if they would help by sending in information in regard to any delinquents, dependents, and mentally defective who might live in their locality."

"Hundreds of those addressed at once agreed; and each of these Dr. Carls at once commissioned under the actual name of the State and of the University and supplied with cards to be filled in with the data desired. Interest in the work rapidly spread and in four months about 20,000 filled-in cards had come back, each of them representing one of the three classes.

"These cards give information as to the emotional field of the individual (manner in which he showed his trouble), his present history, social relations (whether dependent, delinquent, or feeble-minded), the cause of his condition, and whatever remarks the writer thought it best to add. From this information Dr. Carls and his trained assistants were able to classify the subjects."

"The object of the work is of course twofold: first, to give the people of the State an idea of the problem that confronts them and the heavy annual loss that it involves; and, second, to serve as a basis for conservative recommendations which may enable the legislature to wipe out much of this loss and at the same time save the classes involved from much of their present misery by applying well-proved remedies. These ends will certainly be attained."

Dr. Clark, child hygiene expert in the U. S. Public Health Service, was asked about the need for preventive work, such as child hygiene, which would diminish the three classes by saving children who, if left alone, would almost certainly gravitate to the ranks of the submerged.

Into Seven Classes.

"This," he answered, "is one of the most important features of the work. Such children are readily found in many States by the routine mental and physical school examination, but in other States must be found by obtaining from the schools the names of those who are over age for their grades. This latter necessity called for additional work in Oregon for in it as in most other States no lists or even figures bearing on this subject have been compiled; and the task is not yet near completed. It has progressed far enough, however, to show that a large per cent of those two years behind in their school work and a very large per cent of those three years behind (allowing an extra year's leeway) are more or less mentally deficient.

"By no means all children who are behind in school work are, however, mentally deficient. In Oregon, for instance, the causes for the backwardness of the children so far considered fall into seven classes; parental indifference; economic trouble (lack of clothing, apparent necessity for the child's labor, etc.); environment (sickness, foreign language, distance to a school, etc.); physical health; mental disability; temperament (lazy, timid, inattentive, etc.); and Indian blood, the per cent falling into each class cannot as yet be stated, though it will of course be ultimately worked out. This part of the investigation will undoubtedly lead to the adoption of measures that will save many of these children for lives of usefulness."

OLD "999" STILL WORKS

The famous engine No. 999 of the New York Central Railroad has not been scrapped, according to that company. A report to the contrary originated in an anonymous interview from Watertown, N. Y. The company's statement says:

"No. 999 to-day, in its twenty-eighth year of service, is on active duty hauling passenger trains Nos. 30 and 37 on the Pennsylvania Division of the New York Central, which covers the Beech coal district, these trains running between Avis and Clearfield, but it has been remembered 1046.

"The pioneer speed locomotive, however, appears the same to-day as it did when it inaugurated the first really fast train service in America at the head of the Empire State Express and made the speed record of 112.5 miles per hour in May, 1893, which even yet has been unequalled."

RT. HON. A. MEIGHEN TELLS DELEGATIONS HOW HE WOULD PLAN TO RETURN SOLDIERS PROMISED ACTION BY GOVERNMENT TO INCREASE EMPLOYMENT

That the Dominion Government had no intention of instituting any additional system of bonuses for ex-service men and that the Federal Government would consider co-operating with the Provincial Government in the institution of public works in British Columbia as a means of reducing unemployment, were two momentous statements which the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada, made to deputations from a number of returned soldier organizations, which waited on him late Saturday afternoon at the Empress Hotel.

Speaking of the Great War Veterans, H. W. Hart said the unemployment situation before the Prime Minister. Mr. Hart said there are 1,200 unemployed in Victoria, many of them returned men. He showed that the provisions of the discharge regulations had complicated matters in British Columbia by allowing men from other parts of Canada to take their discharges in this Province. Mr. Hart pointed out the responsibility of the Federal Government, and suggested that the situation could possibly become serious unless the Federal Government made provision, through public works, for an increase in employment.

Col. W. N. Winsby touched upon the suggested possibility that the relief system might again be instituted, explaining that returned men did not like to do so, and would prefer to earn any allocations from the Federal Treasury by such work as road building; what was wanted was work, not charity.

Admits Condition.—Mr. Meighen said that he recognized the difficulty in British Columbia, and would give careful consideration to ways of co-operating with the Provincial Government to remedy the situation created by the natural desire of ex-soldiers to take their discharges in the milder climate of British Columbia.

Positively No Bonus.—Comrade Kidner, of the Comrades of France, advocated the payment of a bonus to ex-service men, and suggested the adoption of the bonus bond system in operation in Australia. Mr. Meighen explained that the Australian system issued bonds to a value of $420 to married men, while Canada had paid $600 cash to the same class. He made plain the opposition of the Government to any indiscriminate gratuity, either in cash or bonds, and asserted that "nothing of that type would be considered."

Major Bullock Webster said that there was every indication that the Federal Government would be taking over the construction of the ships now being built at Prince Rupert, and asked that, in that event, arrangements be made for the return of returned soldiers on such work, on the same basis as has been in operation at the yard of the Harbor Marine Company. Mr. Meighen approved the suggestion.

Vocational Training.—Comrade Axon, of the Great War Veterans, asked for particulars as to the rumors of high administrative costs in connection with vocational training. The Prime Minister replied that five per cent. of this year's appropriation was required for administration, a heavy reduction, as last year required more than 10 per cent.

Comrade Stone commented on the inadequacy of the courses offered, and Mr. Meighen replied that every step had been taken on the advice of medical committees, but he saw the point of the argument and would have inquiries made as to possible improvements.

Capt. Orford said the ten per cent. deposit required of returned soldiers going on the land in British Columbia had kept many good men away, as in this Province land clearing had made it impossible for men to get quick returns, many going broke before production commenced. The Prime Minister replied that conditions in this Province warrant more inquiries and possibly better conditions.

Senator Barnard introduced the deputation.

BREAD DROPS TO-DAY IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—The price of bread here was reduced this morning from 12 to 11 cents for an 18-ounce loaf.

Harry Amphlett, Secretary of the Master Bakers' Association, made the following announcement to-day: "The price of bread here is still 12 cents a loaf, the forced reduction in flour being only just operative, and confined to the East. As soon as the reduction in flour affects the western dealers, we will fall in line immediately."

Mr. Amphlett stated that the plans of the Master Bakers in meeting the present developments were not matured, but it was likely that a conference would be held with the Vancouver bakers on the matter at once.

Anxious Seeking Relative.—Mrs. Edith Gail, last address general delivery, Revelstoke, B. C., is being anxiously sought by her mother, Mrs. Lee, of High Street, Uxbridge, Middlesex, England. Mrs. Gail came to Canada with her husband twelve years ago, and has not been in touch with her parents in the Old Country during the last ten years. The police have been asked to locate the missing daughter.

AGRICULTURAL NIGHT CLASSES WILL BEGIN THIS EVENING

The usual night class in agriculture will be conducted during the four winter months at the Victoria High School, in the agricultural laboratory, ground floor, boys' side, commencing this evening at 7.30 o'clock. The course has been outlined to meet the needs of young men and women who have recently left school, and who wish to take up some phase of agriculture for vocational or avocational purposes, and who are prevented by their duties during the day from getting the necessary lessons.

This year it has been found advisable to arrange a definite course adapted to meet local conditions, and to supplement all theory, as far as practicable, with direct instruction by means of laboratory equipment. Such experiments will be conducted by the students themselves.

It has been the policy of the instructor in the past to encourage the students to bring up for discussion local problems with a view to their solution, and greater emphasis will be placed on this phase during the session.

Monday and Wednesday evenings

Happy Holmes May Not Open Season With Mets

Seattle Hockey Squad Got a Solar Plexus Blow When Famous Goalie Reported He Might Not Be Able To Perform on Ice; Muldoon Getting His Team Together

Seattle, Nov. 1.—The opening of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association's 1920-21 race is practically two months away, but the Seattle Metropolitans are already confronted with the serious possibility of having to open the annual campaign without the services of Harry Holmes, acknowledged one of the best goal tenders who ever donned the pads to stop the flying puck. Manager Pete Muldoon learned that the Mets are likely to face the Victoria and Vancouver septets during the get-away weeks of the race with one of their main defensive cogs missing when he approached the veteran goalie yesterday concerning his contract for the coming season.

Looking For New Goalie.

Muldoon went to see Frank Foyton and Holmes, and the local pilot had little trouble agreeing with the crack forward but Harry threw a wrench into the machinery when he said he might not be able to play the first few games. Holmes, who is in the automobile business with Foyton as his partner, may be forced to go East on a matter connected with the firm, in which case he will not be available for the team until the middle of January. Nothing definite has been settled on the trip, but Holmes will know by the end of this week whether he has to leave, there being a slight chance of his absence being unnecessary.

With Possibility of His Goalie Being Unavailable, the Seattle skipper is already laying his plans to plug the gap with a reliable man until Holmes is back and ready to protect the nets.

Foyton and Bobby Rowe are signed for the season, giving the Mets one of the best scorers in the league and one of the hardest working defence players on the coast. The remainder of last year's squad, Jack Walker, Roy Rickey, Jim Riley, Muzz Murray and Bernie Morris, have all been sent contracts, Muldoon is in touch with all but Murray, and expects to announce the signing of several of the veterans within a few days.

Wants Youngsters.

Muldoon promises the fans some new faces on the squad, and is looking for two or three youngsters whom he can mould into material to take the place of stars as Foyton, Walker and Morris when they have faded out. Last year the Mets were without satisfactory utility players, and he expects to have an accident deprived the team of one of the regulars. This year Skipper Pete is determined not to be caught in such a fix, and to have the new player ready to open the season.

With little trouble being anticipated in bringing the remainder of the squad into the fold, the loss of Holmes will place the Mets at a distinct disadvantage, for a tried goal-tender of inestimable value to a club. If Holmes should go East, an experienced man will be secured from the East, or Charlie Murray, the utility goalie of the league, brought to fill the breach in the defense. Murray, who is now at his home in Portland, played with the Rose City team during the season of 1914-15, the year they played in the East, and on the "Victoria" line for two seasons. Muldoon has communicated with Murray, and if it becomes necessary to secure another man, he is not signed from the East, he will be utilized until Holmes is back on the job.

They'll Struggle.

"We're praying for Holmes to open with the team," said Pete, "but if he should not, we'll have to struggle along without him until he gets back. Outside of that, things look quite rosy for our chances to repeat this year, for the addition of Bernie Morris to the team fills a big hole on the forward line. Morris, paired with Foyton on the Coast, and paired with Holmes on the East, will get around most any defence. With the latter two, Riley, Rickey and Murray back, Seattle will be as well fixed as either the Aristocrats or the Millionaires for the big grind."

Lloyd Cook Signs.

Vancouver, B. C. Nov. 1.—Lloyd Cook, veteran defence player of the Vancouver Millionaires of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, has been signed again as playing manager. Frank Patrick announced on Saturday, Cook will be the only playing manager on the circuit this season unless Lester Patrick, of Victoria, decides to break into the game again. The Vancouver manager has been in the Coast League for several years and with the exception of one season when he was with Spokane, has always played with the Millionaires. He will have complete charge of the playing end of the game, Frank Patrick states. He is the second player to be signed, Mickey Mackay also having come to terms.

Expect Thousand Skaters At Opening of Ice Palace

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Arena to-morrow evening at 8.15 o'clock. Manager Patrick announced this morning that a splendid sheet of ice has been put over the large surface and the workmen are now giving it the final touches. It is expected that one thousand skaters will be on the ice. On the opening night last year 859 steel-blade whirrers attended, but Manager Patrick stated this morning that greater interest is being taken in skating this year and that he expects the attendance to be up in the four figures. Everybody likes to be a "first-licker" and despite the fact that there is not a chance to cut figures and show bursts of speed, the skaters like to get together for an old-time reunion. The prospects of a good season are indicated by the rush to the "skate shapers." During the past week hundreds of the steel blades were laid across the emery stone and polished. There has been a big rush to-day by those who put off till the last minute their most pressing duty. The skating hours this season will be the same as in the past. The Arena will be open every afternoon and evening except Monday, and there will be a band in attendance each evening and on Saturday afternoon.

RECORD NUMBER OF DRAW SOCCER GAMES

Sixteen of 33 Matches End Evenly; Huddersfield Defeat Came as Surprise

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Crescentwoods won the junior championship of the Manitoba Rugby Union here Saturday, defeating Tammany Tigers, 13 to 0, in the final and deciding contest. The winners will compete in the western Canada junior play-off for the Gillespie trophy at Regina. The Crescentwoods juveniles also won the deciding game for the Manitoba juvenile Rugby championship, when they scored the Tammany Tigers, 6 to 1.

A Big Come-Back.
Calgary, Alta., Nov. 1.—Deacon White's husky line plunging Eskimos, starting from the 27 to 15 whipping they received from the Tigers on their own grounds a week ago, staged a remarkable come-back here Saturday, soundly thrashing the Tigers, 18 to 0, in the round. The Eskimos uncovered a fast, aggressive attack, with Logan Blades, Canada's star quaring star, with two touchdowns for 50-yard runs. The Tigers were overconfident and were taking no chances of having players injured and put out of business for the game they have to play at Regina next Saturday in the semi-finals of the western Canada Rugby championship.

McGill Wins.
Montreal, Nov. 1.—McGill defeated Queen's in an inter-collegiate Rugby union match at the Molson stadium on Saturday by 16 to 0.

IF ABE TESTIFIES HE MAY TELL A LOT

Montreal, Nov. 1.—That he was not responsible for the arrangement made to fake the world's series between Chicago and Cincinnati, because he was incapable of carrying out such an undertaking owing to the lack of funds, and also because of the "master minds" was, and is protected on account of his financial position, are features of a statement made to-day by Abe Attell, who has been staying in the city for some time, eluding reporters, and refusing to talk. Attell's statement added further that the world's series of 1919 was not the first occasion upon which big ball players were persuaded to "play down" to their opponents. Attell contends that Rothstein made $60,000 or $70,000 out of the series, besides expenses.

Chapman, of the Newark Velodrome, and Charles H. Hanson, of Brooklyn promoter. At this early time announcement is made of the contracting of ten foreign riders, including the famous Brocco, Egg, Buysse and Spiesens. A meeting will be held next week to decide on the amount of the purse for the race, which will top any offered in previous events. Last year the grind was held in March. Both showed profitable returns to the promoters.

Victoria golfers will be glad to learn that another competition is to be added to the present very attractive programme of events for the winter. The Colwood Club is named as the present holder and is prepared to defend the trophy at any time.

The condition set forth in the presentation of the cup to the Colwood Club states that three clubs will be recognized in the competition, the Victoria Golf Club, the United Service Golf Club, and the Colwood Golf Club. The matches must be played on courses having at least 18 holes, and where any recognized club does not possess an eighteen-hole course the match must be played on the course of the other competing club, or an arrangement can be made by mutual consent of the two competing clubs to play on the course of the third club interested.

The match will consist of singles in the morning of the day of competition and two foursomes in the afternoon. In the singles one point will be recorded for the first nine holes, one point for the second nine and one point for the match. The date of matches must be decided on within two months of the challenge being made.

Mets and Wests Tied in Race For Soccer Honors

Yarrows Put Over Brilliant Win on Mets and Are Within One Point of a Triple Tie With the Leaders; Sons of England at Last Break Into Win Column; Intermediates Play Well.

Results in Saturday's soccer games were as follows:

Senior League.
Yarrows, 5; Metropolis, 4.
Victoria West, 4; Comrades, 1.
Sons of England, 2; G. W. V. A., 1.
Intermediate League.
Firemen, 1; Metropolis, 1.
Esquimalt, 6; Garrison, 5.

When George Williamson's fast-travelling shipbuilders kicked the sheer-legs away from under the Mets on Saturday afternoon the race for the senior soccer honors of Victoria tightened up like the paper on the wall. If the Mets had succeeded in their desire of trimming Yarrows in the struggle would have wanted. Now, however, with three teams virtually on even terms the people who suffer from footballitis will be dished up a feast of pickin that should satisfy their cravings. Saturday's results placed the Wests and Mets on even terms for the championship. They have each won a trio of games, lost one and drawn another. One point behind come the dashing shipwrights with three wins and one loss. They have played one game less than the leaders, and when it is played it may give them one point to the good.

Although the Comrades, dropped their game they retained hold of fourth place, with a pair of wins and three reverses. The Sons of England scored their first victory of the season by scaling the G. W. V. A. The Sons' win put them in a tie with the Vets for the cellar position. One of the most sensational wins of the season was registered at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon when Yarrows out-scored the Mets and won 5-4. The shipbuilders found the goal hard in the first half when the Mets scored two goals while they were kept out. In the second period, however, the Yarrows showed tremendous speed and after trying the score battled on and won the game.

The finish was the greatest that has been seen here in many years. With a few minutes to go and the teams credited with four goals apiece the shipbuilders staged a desperate rally. They swept down the field and evaded all opposition save Leeming in goal. Realizing that his only hope lay in meeting the incoming forwards, Leeming advanced, but he was bested by Bridges driving in the goal that sent the Yarrows supporters home with a smile.

The Mets opened strongly, but for a time the Yarrows' defence was too strong. Finally a penalty was awarded and Johnnie Cummings whiffed in a shot that Bridges simply said kamedar to. Yarrows made occasional efforts to break away but the Mets were kept—and before the whistle Johnnie Cummings sneaked in a low fast shot.

Another Penalty.
Early in the second half Yarrows were awarded a penalty and Roe shot the ball into the net. The play followed. After several pretty runs Swan equalized the score with a neat shot. The Mets slackened up and the Yarrows came on and gave Leeming a busy time. Roe eventually tallied again, putting Yarrows in the lead. Roe drove in another, but an offside was declared.

In a rally the Mets came back to even terms, when Smiler Pettie scored from close in. Merfield's toe lifted in the fourth goal for Yarrows, but the drive was short-lived. The Mets rushed and from a corner Cummings scored. Then came the dying rally of the shipbuilders, the game ended.

The teams follow:
Yarrows—Bridges; Ord and Prevost; Mesher, Roe and Munroe; Merfield, Bridges, Davies, Swan and Mulcahy.
Metropolis—Leeming; Church and Taylor; Wale, Owens and Patterson; Jammie, Cummings, "Smiler" Pettie, crew, Brynjolf, Johnny Cummings and Totty.

E. R. Lock acted as referee.
West-Comrades Tussle.
A good crowd witnessed the game between the Wests and Comrades, which went to the former by 4-1. The Comrades won the toss and decided to kick uphill. The Wests were soon round Tipper, and after five minutes the Comrades' back missed his kick, and Mulr pounced on the ball, opening the scoring. The game was very even, and Shandley saved from Harper, but the West went away again, and Plump missed an easy goal, the ball bouncing against his knee and going over. Hiller at the other end missed a centre from Harper. The West continued to press, and from a centre by Mulcahy Plump headed a fine goal, giving the West a commanding lead, which they maintained until half time.

Soon after resuming Mulcahy fooled Whyte, and from the centre the game was hotly contested, both teams putting up a good brand of football at the top end, Plump had the satisfaction of going through the opposing defence, but his final shot hit the bar. Sid Sherratt played a great game, and three and again he stopped Hiller and Bloom. From a goal kick Petch kicked the ball twice before an opponent had played it, and increased the West lead. Hardly had the cheers died away when Johnny Peden went through and scored with a shot that deceived even himself. The Wests were having much the best of matters at this period, their half backs playing a sterling game.

SCREEN VERSION OF "CIVILIAN CLOTHES"

Thomas Meighan Has Role of Captain Who Turns Butler,
at Dominion

Thomas Meighan's first Paramount starring vehicle is "Civilian Clothes," produced by Hugh Ford from Thompson Buchanan's popular stage play of the same name. The picture will be shown at the Dominion Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story concerns an overseas captain who marries a pretty American society girl in France. She is attracted to him chiefly because he is so handsome in his uniform. Later, after she returns to America comes news of his death. She has renewed her acquaintance with another admirer when her husband very much alive, comes to her home. Disappointed at his unromantic appearance in civilian clothes, which show atrocious taste in their cut and color, she snubs him. The gallant ex-captain thereupon secures a job as butler in his wife's household with the avowed purpose of teaching her a lesson in democracy. The results are amusing in the extreme, and, of course, the story ends happily.

Mr. Meighan's supporting company includes Martha Mansfield, the beautiful heroine of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and other screen notables.

ANTARCTIC PARTY LEADERS ARE WELL

KNOWN IN CITY

Expedition to South Polar
Regions Headed by Men
Who Visited Here

Victorians should feel a particular interest in the British Antarctic expedition which sailed at the end of last week for the Falkland Islands from Norfolk, Virginia.

Not only has the leader, Dr. J. L. Cope visited Victoria, when Lieut. Stenhouse, Commander Worsley, and himself arrived from the Antipodes on the occasion of their rescue by the relief ship headed by Sir Ernest Shackleton, but one of the leading members of the party, Capt. G. H. Wilkins, M.C., of Adelaide, South Australia, left from Victoria with the Canadian Arctic expedition in June, 1913. Capt. Wilkins went with Stefansson as photographer. When the expedition dissolved he went home, and joined an Australian detachment. He served with distinction overseas in various theatres of the war, and later was retained to gather special historical data for the war records of the Australian troops.

Dr. Cope gave a very favorable impression to those who met him when he passed through Victoria some years ago. He is a quiet, silent man, and appears to recognise the qualities which a position of daring and resource call for in polar research. The expedition has been fitted out for a year, and has a varied list of objects to accomplish in the frozen continent.

The Party. From the Falkland Islands the expedition will be taken by a whaling vessel to the Weddell Sea, and there landed on the ice during January. The party hope to survey hitherto-unexplored regions, but no attempt will be made to reach the Pole, the expedition being purely geographical and biological. A cinematograph camera is included in the equipment of the expedition. At the end of eighteen months or so the party will return to England, by which time a specially-built ship and a large aeroplane will be ready for a further expedition, which is expected to be of five years duration.

YOUNG REPORTER

IN "GO AND GET IT"

Newspaper Story Is Told in Royal's Attractive Offering
This Week

There have been so many tricks in motion picture photography that the average layman refuses to believe even what his eyes see on the screen.
And no subject has been "faked"
more than aeroplane scenes. Audiences have sat thrilled—with their bodies covered with "goose flesh" at some daring aerial stunt only to learn at a later date that this stunt supposed to have transpired thousands of feet above the surface of the earth had really been "shot" within a few feet of the ground and at no time were the participants of it in any danger of bodily harm. A notable exception of this is Omar Locklear, the noted motion picture
"stunt" man. Lieut. Locklear is never happy performing his feats of providence in the air unless there is a genuine thrill in it for himself.

And up to quite a recent date,
Locklear had the field to himself—
until there entered young Pat O'Malley. O'Malley, one of the most daring youngsters in the motion picture game quickly outstripped Locklear and all other competitors for aerial honors, performing feats of daring that seemed almost incredible. Most of these stunts were done in the training period of his experience.
But now—in Marshall Neilan's super-picture of newspaper life—"Go and Get It," which will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria to-night—

young O'Malley has blossomed forth in earnest and it is a safe bet that it will be a long time before his rivals even catch him in his performances in the air.

The aerial stunts he does in this picture are almost past belief and every moment he is before the camera is one filled with thrills and suspense for the audience. Rising from the aviation field in an ordinary plane—not a stunt one—O'Malley soars thousands of feet above the ground and then proceeds to see how many hairs he can raise on the heads of auditors. He climbs along the planes of the machine, swings himself into space and after several attempts lands on the wings of another aero-plane. Later, after performing his mission, he again returns to the original machine only to again leave it by dropping a rope ladder to the roof of an express train. But if it was a difficult feat to land on the roof of the train—it is even harder later on for him to leave the same roof while the train is going sixty miles an hour and catch the rope ladder suspended from the fast moving aeroplane flying above. Yet all this O'Malley does and does it well and later on during the action of the picture, he duplicates these stunts in a seaplane. And there is not a foot of the film "faked"—it is the genuine thing.

"THE CHEATER" HAS TIMELY INTEREST

May Allison's New Picture
Deals With Modern Subject;
Dominion Theatre

May Allison, the captivating Metro star in "The Cheater," is announced as the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre for a run of three days, beginning next Thursday. This is described as one of the photoplay sensations of the year, presenting this fascinating actress in an intensely dramatic role.

"The Cheater" is a screen version of "Judah," the notable stage play by Henry Arthur Jones. Mr. Jones, with whose work American theatregoers have long been familiar, is the author of "The Silver King," "The Liars,"

MAY ALLISON IN "THE CHEATER"

"Mrs. Dane's Defense" and more than a score of other distinguished dramatic compositions. "Judah" was presented on the stage at the Shaftesbury Theatre in London with E. S.
Willard in the titular role.

The theme of "The Cheater" is one that is uppermost in the minds of thinking people throughout the present civilized world at the present time. The play deals with the healing of faith.

The highly dramatic story of "The Cheater" revolves around Lily Meany, the daughter of an unprincipled con-juror known as "Big" Meany. These two play upon the credulity of refined people who take stock in their fake science and who even come to them to be cured of imaginary ills.

Hearing that Lily has power to heal the sick, young Judah, Lord Angarby, summons her to his ancestral home and begs her to heal his sister, Eve, who has been declared an incurable cripple. Confronting the simple faith of the little girl and that of her noble-minded brother,
Lily suddenly experiences a change of heart and thoroughly ashamed of her many deceptions, she sets about to demonstrate that there is some good in her after all.

The drama is said to be developed with the skill of a master playwright and the leading role affords Miss Alison an unusual opportunity for a display of her emotional powers. King Baggot, widely known to motion picture fans by reason of his work in any number of big productions, is cast as Judah opposite the star. Others in the cast are Frank Currier, Harry Van Meter, Percy Challenger, May Geraci and Lucille Ward.

The Jones drama was adapted to the screen by Lois Zellner and Henry Otto, directed the production.

The numbers in the selection include "Chu-Chin Chorus Entrance," "Cleopatra's Nile," "Any Time's Kissing Time," "Javanese Dance," "Mahahah," "Caroline," "Robbers March and Chorus," and the Grand Finale with "Any Time's Kissing Time," with full orchestra double forte.

"SINNERS" IS SCREEN DRAMA AT PANTAGES

Alice Brady Appears in Film
Adaptation of Her Stage
Success

Alice Brady as Mary Horton in "Sinners," which is now being shown on the silver sheet at Pantages Theatre, portends for the screen the role which put her in the foremost rank of American emotional actresses.

Miss Brady is supported by an eminent cast of screen and stage actors. James L. Crane plays the part of the hero who comes out of the West, and Frank Losee, the product of city environment.

Owen Davis wrote the stage play. "Sinners," for Miss Brady. Its phenomenal success created the demand for a novelized version. The book ran into many editions. The hosts who read the book but were unfortunate not to see Miss Brady on the speaking stage, are now getting a screen adaptation of the play with Miss Brady in the principal role. The screen version is declared to be even better than the spoken one because of the absence of stage limitations.

Mary Horton had gone to the city to make her fortune, leaving behind her dearest friend—her mother. Days had followed weeks, but fortune was still lagging. In fact Mary had given up the fight, and was even then preparing to join some "friends" in a three-day trip to Atlantic City, regardless of consequences.

There was one man in that whole unfriendly city whom Mary somewhat trusted. He was Bob Merrick, the Westerner. He seemed to divine that she was up against a hopeless proposition in making her way alone, and saw that she was becoming discouraged by constant failure. When Merrick learned that Mary was to be a member of the week-end party at Atlantic City, he made every effort to dissuade her. In a fit of passion Mary exclaimed: "Oh, yes, I will! I'm going to-night with the rest of you. I am going to wear a pretty dress, and I am going to laugh when you laugh and live as you live. And you're going to take me." Did Bob Merrick take her? What happened to Mary Horton is the intense, heart-gripping, emotional drama, "Sinners," which is being shown to-day and to-morrow.

LAUGHS AND THRILLS AT THE COLUMBIA

Douglas Fairbanks in "When The Clouds Roll By,"
Other Features

Since Douglas Fairbanks, associated with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and D. W. Griffith, decided to produce independently a year ago, each forthcoming announcement from this "Big Four" is greeted with much enthusiasm. The United Artists Corporation from its New York office wired the Columbia Theatre that "Doug's" next production, "When the Clouds Roll By," will be ready for exhibition here to-day.

The policy of the Columbia Theatre during the past year to give the amusement lovers of this community the very best obtainable, leads its patrons again to look forward with great expectation to this picture. Independence in production has given the "Big Four" of the screen the opportunity of their lives. The assurance from these producers that each additional picture will bring better things to the public has well been sustained, for the reviews of critics throughout the country rank "When the Clouds Roll By" to be the most spectacular and interesting production in which the inimitable Fairbanks has ever appeared.

The change in the motion picture industry which was caused by the decision of the "Big Four" to produce and distribute pictures independently, entirely on a policy of the merit of each picture, has been watched with great interest by the public and the industry alike, and it now goes without saying that these artists have lived up to their every promise.

It is well for the theatre-goers of this community to know that the policy begun by the "Big Four" meant that they would produce fewer but bigger and better productions each year. Their popularity has always stood unchallenged in their respective fields and their productions now have reached such a height that there is scarcely offered a standard to which they can compare.

With these ideal conditions the second Fairbanks production, "When the Clouds Roll By," has proved an exceptional picture and one which the management of the Columbia Theatre is delighted to present, for

MARY PICKFORD NOW AT VARIETY

Screen Idol in Role of Cockney Laundry Drudge; "The Lost City"

Madame Rose Dione, the celebrated French actress who will be seen as Madame Jeanne Galliflet-Didier, proprietress of a hand laundry in the slums of London, in Mary Pickford's United Artists production of "Suds" at the Variety Theatre all this week, played with Sarah Bernhardt in Paris, but came to this country at the outbreak of the war, and played in New York with a French stock company the first season, and in Montreal the second winter.

Her first picture work was done in "The Secret Garden," then she played in "The Tiger Trail." The director in the latter asked her if she could ride horseback, and she replied, "Oh, yes, monsieur, dutifully." The fact was Mme. Dione had never been on a horse's back in her life, but she hid herself immediately to a riding school—took six lessons and amazed the entire company with her excellent rough riding.

Mme. Dione has a very keen intellect, and it does not take her long to grasp an idea. However, it is a trifle difficult for her to understand directions given in English, and she is always provided with an interpreter who, if possible, also given a part in the picture with her.

Mme. Dione played in "The Luck of the Irish" and in "The World and Its Women" with Geraldine Farrar. She also appeared with Mme. Tessa, who is a very great personal friend of Mme. Dione's.

JAPANESE GIRLS IN "CHU CHIN CHOW"

Novel Feature in Magnificent Production Due in City Next Week

The Japanese show girl is the latest. Furthermore, the Japanese show girl is a serious rival for her American associates, as the records of the stage door John attest, and as for beauty and attractiveness over the footlights, just take the case of the two Japanese show girls in "Chu Chin Chow," the big musical extravaganza of the Orient, which F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest will present at the Royal Victoria Theatre, for five nights and two matinees commencing Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The two Japanese show girls in "Chu Chin Chow" are sisters, named respectively Oikta and Kioto Watama. Their father is a prosperous Japanese importer and exporter of Kobe, Japan. Four years ago, when he came to America on important war business, the father, Noguchi Watama, brought the sisters with him to place them in an American boarding school at a Hudson River town, so they could learn English manners and customs. Then the father went back to Japan. The two sisters stood the boarding school for a couple of years until they had mastered American slang, and had learned to like the theatre frequent trips to New York. Next they decided to become real actresses themselves.

About this time, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest planned the production of "Chu Chin Chow" in New York at the Century Theatre. A theatrical agent reported that two Japanese girls wanted engagements with a show. Mr. Gest needed several Japanese girls for the mannequin parade of fashion models in the bazaar scene. He had been unable to find any Japanese show girls, so he welcomed the Misses Watama. They were engaged, and made their first stage appearance with "Chu Chin Chow." They were so pretty and attractive in their native costumes that Mr. Gest employed them last Summer in the midnight revue on top of the Century Theatre, in New York, and there they scored success in keen rivalry with their native counterparts. ### AFRICAN NEGRO LABOR PAID AT VERY LOW WAGES

Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire, F.R.C.S., will lecture on "An Irishman in the Heart of Africa" here next Friday. He has recently been on a lecture tour with Hon. W. J. Bryan in the South.

Speaking in Vancouver on this subject to the Kiwanis Club Dr. Maguire took his audience on the long sea voyage to the mouth of the great Congo River and then inland for hundreds of miles. In describing the customs of the people he showed the index fingers on his two hands and the scars caused by the cutting for the blood flow in making him a blood brother with the chiefs.

One of the most humorous incidents of the lecture was a description of the peace dish that the speaker was called upon to eat with the head chief of one of the most powerful tribes. This dish consisted of beans and field rats, all of which he had to eat or declare war. Labor said Dr. Maguire was cheap in that country, a thousand men could be secured for twenty-five cents a day.

BENNO MOISEWITSCH WILL BE HERE THURSDAY

PIANIST RECEIVES OVATION AT PORTLAND

Beno Moiseiwitsch Adds Another to Long List of Artistic Triumphs

The Ladies' Musical Club is in receipt of a telegram from Portland to the effect that in his recital in that city on Wednesday evening, Benno Moiseiwitsch, the Russian pianist, who is to appear here on November 4, received an ovation from a packed house.

Portland furnished another example of the enthusiastic audiences who eagerly go to his recitals in search of the beautiful, the ideal and the fairy dreams of the pianoforte gods which seem to hover in his magic finger-tips.

Mr. Moiseiwitsch has no special passion for any particular composer unless it be Schumann. He was the first to introduce John Powell's famous "Sonata Teutonica" to the public, famous as the longest sonata ever written for pianoforte, and no small tax on the performer, since it takes over an hour to play.

He also played for the first time the same composer's "Variations and Double Fugue," a "Toccata" by Nandor Zolt, and Sydney Rosenbloom's "Scherzo" in B flat minor and "Variations."

Rich Blood Secret Of Good Health.

Here Is A Suggestion Along That Line.

Then, impoverished blood results in pale, yellow complexion, run-down anemic conditions, and leaves one without strength, energy or ambition. Lots of people here think that the one great remedy for this condition is Vinol, that non-secret cod liver and iron tonic without oil, which with the beef peptones and glycerophosphates contained in it, acts very quickly in creating thousands of red corpuscles in the blood. It quickens the circulation, increases the appetite aids digestion, and in this natural manner creates strength, vitality and energy. Hundreds of people in this vicinity have testified to its value.

BOTH MEETINGS WERE CRITICAL

Hon. J. A. Calder Finally Asked Mayor to End Theatre Gathering

The Hon. J. A. Calder, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, was given a critical reception at both the Empress Hotel and the Royal Victoria Theatre, when he attempted to speak Saturday night.

"I am not going to attempt to talk if there are going to be twenty others talking in the audience at the same time," said Mr. Calder as he tried to get started.

"I am sure the people of this audience don't wish to go out over this country that some twenty or thirty people wouldn't let us go on with our speeches in Victoria."

"And Vancouver and Winnipeg and Moose Jaw," came back the reply from the audience.

After being on his feet for fifteen minutes, Hon. Mr. Calder realizing that it was impossible to make any headway, turned to Mayor Porter, chairman, and said that he might as well close the meeting.

Mr. Calder said he had come a long distance to speak in Victoria and he felt at home here, particularly in view of the residence here of so many of his prairie friends.

"The time has come," said Mr. Calder, "when the people throughout the land are again showing a deep interest in the questions of the day. During the past three or four years scant opportunity has been afforded for the public discussion of political issues, and I welcome the reawakening. I don't think there ever was a time in the history of Canada when people took their politics as seriously as they do now. There never was so much independent thought as now. There was a time when the man who left his party and transferred his affiliations to another was branded a traitor. That day is gone."

"The people want to know the facts. They want no misunderstanding, no sidestepping and no wobbling. They want to be told fairly and squarely where we stand on the questions of the day. If returned soldiers learned in France more than the people at home it was this: That they will stand for no nonsense. They want declarations of policy straight from the shoulder."

Denies "Big Interests" Charge.

Mr. Calder spoke on the subject of taxation and denied the charge that the Unionist Government was allied with the big interests. "It has been asserted that the Government has capital standing behind it, and that its every move is influenced by certain interests. The things that the Government has done disprove all this. We adopted direct taxation because it was necessitated by war debts. Some think that incomes should have been taxed heavier. Let me tell you that incomes of more than $175,000 are taxed more heavily in Canada than in any other country of the world. Canada has the largest tax on big incomes of any country in the world, and on every range of income below $175,000 the tax is greater than that of the United States."

Queries came for details. "I don't need to bother you with details. I'm stating facts. Some believe we hand a larger tax than the United States in income ranging from $4,000 to $15,000. Do you think we can?"

"If the Government was working for the invisible interests you hear so much about it would have been very down. But what are the facts? Until the last session Canada had the largest business tax in the world, and I'm sure if we haven't still the largest. At first we had a 4 per cent tax on the net incomes of all corporations. The second year we were in power we increased this to 6 per cent, and last year we raised it to 10 per cent. Wouldn't it have been easy to leave it at 4 per cent? No, the Government hasn't hesitated to do its duty so far as taxation is concerned."

Dwells on a Tariff Issue.

Speaking of tariff, Mr. Calder described four categories: namely, the free trader, the high protectionist, the tariff for revenue man and the moderate protectionist. He said there might be lots of free traders in theory, but he doubted whether there were a dozen people in the audience who sympathized with free trade in practice. It would be all right if all nations of the world agreed on the principle.

Mr. Calder told a story about meeting some prairie friends in a middle western town, who said he must be the same to have their support. "After I had argued it out with them," said Mr. Calder, "not one of them was a high protectionist."

"Maybe they were hypnotized," suggested a man in the audience. "No, I never was a hypnotist," replied Mr. Calder, who went on to say that they were a few extremists in Canada who would place a 40 to 70 per cent tariff wall in effect that would absolutely shut out competition in certain commodities and create price-controlling monopolies.

A great many people believe in the tariff for revenue, said the Minister. "Many Liberals say they believe in that. 'The tariff laws we have in Canada to-day were devised by the Liberals while they were in power for fifteen years.'"

"You switched," someone shouted. "No, I didn't switch. I am just as good a Liberal as I ever was. The Liberals put the tariff as we have it on the statute books, and they call it a protective tariff. It is a product of fifteen years of Liberalism. When we took office the tariff averaged 25 per cent. It is now 23 per cent."

"Do you believe that the industries of Canada should get some sort of protection? Of course you do. There is no doubt of that. As long as we have to the south of us a nation of 100,000,000 industrious people who maintain a tariff we have got to have a tariff, too. A lot of people have been fooling themselves on the tariff question. They have talked a lot when they didn't know their subject. I don't know it all yet, but I know that one great big outstanding issue in the tariff is the tariff. The Liberal party preaches a low tariff and protection in some cases. My stand is for a sane, reasonable, moderate tariff to maintain the legitimate industries of Canada. I am neither a free trader nor a high protectionist."

The meeting was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Repeats at Empress.

At the Empress Hotel meeting, which was well managed by W. G. Gaunce in the chair, Mr. Calder was subjected to a running form of interruptions from critical members of the audience.

The Minister of Immigration labored the reasons why he had joined the Union Government in 1917, and said that after his first call to Ottawa he retired to Northern Saskatchewan, many miles from a railway. "In fact," he said, "I ran away from Union Government."

"Why did you stop running?" queried an interrupter.

Mr. Calder attempted to justify the acts of the Union Government during the last twelve months, and asked what had they been doing?

"Protecting the profiteers," chimed in a voice.

Amid the laughter which ensued Mr. Calder disclaimed the impeachment.

He told the audience that it was impossible to deceive the people all the time, that the public was becoming additionally wary as time went on, and that Canadian public men had to be more cautious as time went on.

"You cannot fool the people all the time."

"Doubtless that is the experience of a political expert," came the rejoinder from the back of the hall.

Mr. Calder devoted a considerable part of his speech to throwing cold water on the claims of Hon. Mr. Mackenzie King that the Liberals wanted a general election. He quoted a number of by-elections in which a direct opposition candidate had not presented himself, and asked if that was not proof that the opposition was afraid of the electors?

"What would you have us do now that we have come 3,000 miles to speak to you?"

"Get out," came the rejoinder.

The Minister made a flattering reference to Hon. S. P. Tomin, the city representative in the House and the Cabinet, and said that he was the ablest Minister of Agriculture who had ever held that position, a reference which was applauded.

SAYS MRS. BRADFORD SAYS MRS. DRADFORD

Vancouver Woman Declares Tanlac Has Restored Her Health After Two Years of Intense Suffering

"It was certainly a happy surprise for me when I saw how Tanlac was bringing back my health and strength," was the enthusiastic statement made the other day by Mrs. M. C. Bradford, of 321 Campbell Avenue, Vancouver, B. C.

"At the time I got Tanlac it seems to me I was just about as bad off as people ever get to be. For two years I suffered intensely from indigestion, after every meal. My back and shoulders were so drawn and bent from rheumatism I went about stooping over most of the time.

"I suffered day and night from rheumatism, and often had to sit up in bed at night in order to breathe, so I woke up mornings as tired as on going to bed. I spent days at a time in bed, and it was simply out of the question for me to do my housework."

"Well, I have just finished my fourth bottle of Tanlac now, and my indigestion, rheumatism, nervousness and weakness are all things of the past. I feel strong and well, just like I did when a girl, and do all my housework and never feel it. I am so grateful to Tanlac for restoring my health, I feel like I want to tell the whole world about it."

Tanlac is sold in Victoria by D. E. Campbell, corner For and Douglas, and Lang's Drug Store, Esquimalt Road.

AURORA WAS UNIT OF FAMOUS FLEET

Canada's Light Cruiser With Commodore Tyrwhitt's Fleet
at Jutland

The light cruiser Aurora, presented to Canada by the British Government, during the war was a unit of the famous light cruiser squadron under Commodore Tyrwhitt, whose flag waved from the "Saucy Arethusa."

The squadron was attached to the Harwich patrol, which consisted of light cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

During the action off the Dogger Banks, early in 1915, the Aurora was particularly mentioned by Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty. It was on this occasion that the German armored cruiser Blücher was sent to the bottom by the British battle-cruisers, led by the Lion.

During the whole battle, which was fought at very high speed—about 27 knots—the Aurora constantly kept in touch with the enemy, preventing attacks on the larger British vessels by enemy torpedo craft, also keeping the German light cruisers at a discreet distance.

Vice-Admiral Jellicoe, of Scapa, frequently refers to the Aurora in his work: "The Grand Fleet—1914 to 1918."

The Aurora is one of eight cruisers of the same type. Her sister ships are the Arethusa, Galatea, Inconstant, Royalist, Penelope, Phaeton and Undaunted.

The following are the particular dimensions, etc., of the Aurora: Launched, Devonport, 30.9.1913. Length, 410 feet. Beam, 29 feet. Draught (mean), 14 feet. Displacement, 3,600 tons.

I. H. P., 37,000. Speed, 30 knots. Oil capacity, 754 tons.

Engines: Turbine, Parsons. Armament: 2.6 in. (50 cal.) fore and aft; 6-4 in. (50 cal.) on broadside. Torpedo tubes, 4-21 in. above water, in pairs, on broadside.

BROUGHT BAGGAGE FROM WRECKED SHIP

S.S. Prince George Delivered
Salvaged Passengers Effects
From Swanson Bay

The Grand Trunk Pacific steamship Prince George, which arrived here yesterday morning from Prince Rupert, brought south baggage of passengers removed by the salvors from the sunken steamship Prince Rupert at Swanson Bay.

The baggage, which had been under water for some time, was salvaged by divers of the Pacific Salvage Company as soon as the hull had been sighted. After being hoisted the Prince Rupert went over on her beam ends and the difficult feat of getting the submerged vessel back on an even keel was recently accomplished by the salvage operators. As soon as it was practicable, divers were sent down into the hold and all baggage and mail that could be reached were saved. The salvaged material was taken aboard the Prince George at Swanson Bay.

According to word brought here by the Prince George, the salvage operations are proceeding most satisfactorily. The work of building the huge coffer-dam is under way and the prospects are bright for the early salvage of the steamship.

RAIL LINE BRINGS DAWN OF NEW DAY

J. J. Warren Tells of Development to Follow Kettle Valley Opening

With the completion of the Copper Mountain branch of the Kettle Valley railway, a new day is dawning for mineral development in that district, according to the statements of J. J. Warren, president of the Kettle Valley Railway Company, in a letter to Premier Oliver in relation to the provincial subsidy.

Mr. Warren says that the subsidy of $5,000 a mile is infinitesimal when it is considered that the Canada Copper Corporation have spent $4,500,000 in the acquisition and development of the mines and the construction of the concentrating plant at Allenby.

He points out that the Kettle Valley Railway branch, while only fourteen miles long, owing to the rough, mountainous character of the route, cost almost $2,000,000, and the cost of the Copper Mountain Mine extensions was $1,250,000.

In addition to this the West Kootenay Power and Light Co. has extended its line from Greenwood to Copper Mountain, a distance of about one hundred miles.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company have extended their plant at Trail at a cost of $500,000 to take care of the concentrates at Copper Mountain.

Mr. Warren points out that the Copper Mountain line will put on a commercial basis the development of the great mineral deposits discovered a quarter of a century ago.

Taylor Statten to Address Women's Canadian Club, Had Unique Career

Taylor Statten, National Boys' Work Board Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., who is to address the Women's Canadian Club on "The Unprivileged Boy" on Thursday afternoon next, is known throughout the organization as "The Big Chief."

He was born in Peel County, Ont., and as a boy was the leader of a gang that brought terror to the neighborhood. He later found himself in Toronto and joined the Central "Y," then linked up with the Leaders' Corps, working with underprivileged boys. In 1905 he became Boys' Work Secretary, and in 1911 was appointed secretary for Ontario and Quebec, being called to the National Board a year later.

He spent 1918-1919 in France, Belgium and England, when he recruited a large number of workers with boys in the trenches. A unique career, he is an expert camper and woodsman, and has the gift of understanding boys.

Notes.

St. John's Troops and Pack are formed temporarily under the supervision of the organizing secretary, and will meet every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in St. John's schoolroom, Quadra Street. If it is found possible to start a Troop and Pack here under suitable supervision, it is hoped this will be done, and as there is every prospect of a good number of boys joining, it is at present entirely a matter of obtaining sufficient help. Next Tuesday it is hoped volunteers will be present to start this Troop and Pack.

Craigflower School.—There is a fine opening here for a very fine Pack. It is believed that next week announcement can be made that one will be formed.

The Patrol Leaders will meet in the secretary's office, 221 Pemberton Building, next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. It is hoped that a full representation of each Troop will be present.

If every Scout and Wolf Cub will next week bring with him one recruit, and if every Patrol Leader will bring a volunteer to assist in the Scout work, Victoria will see such a revival in scouting that will make it second to no other city in Canada, and will assure its future in a way no other movement can make possible. Sixteen hundred Overseas Scouts attended the jamboree in England. Four hundred were given an official welcome by the Lord Mayor of London. There are over 200,000 Scouts in England.

ORE ASSAYS WELL.

Steady progress is being made in the development of the Silver mine. E. Hodgson reports ore discoveries assaying some 400 ounces to the ton. Mr. Hodgson is leaving in a few days for England to meet the principals who are interested in the development. He also states that some fifteen men will be employed in the Spring. Heavy machinery is to be shipped in.—Cowichan Leader.

Remarkable Experiments upon Human Subjects

The men were brought to a standard weight.

Bovril was then added to their diet.

Weight in flesh and muscle went up 10 to 20 times the amount of Bovril added.

Astonishing Body-Building Power of Bovril proved by famous Physiologist

IT was a notable hour for the scientific world when Professor Thompson, of Dublin, a physiologist of international prestige, carried out his experiments with Bovril.

He had been asked by a Government Department to give an independent report upon the value of this food. Proceeding in a deliberate scientific way, he gave a standard diet to human subjects, until their weight was constant. He then added Bovril to the diet, and the weight of the subjects went up in an altogether astonishing way, proving the body-building powers to be from 10 to 20 times the amount of Bovril taken.

These experiments showed the gain in muscle, nerve and flesh, apart from the gain in energy and vitality, which is incapable of measurement. And yet anyone who has taken Bovril has proved this for himself. As one drinks Bovril it is as if new Life flows in, new energy, new "élan," as the French would say. Thus, in some subtle way, does Bovril re-create the forces of the body.

BOVRIL stands alone

There has been no increase in the price of Bovril since the outbreak of the War

For the Piano—and all fine Furniture

THE care of a costly instrument involves the use of a polish so dependable as to be absolutely "above reproach". The fact that O-Cedar Polish is used for piano polishing in preference to all other preparations, by thousands of women, is as strong a recommendation as you could have for its use on less costly articles of furniture and on woodwork.

It is preferred in most homes, because it cleans as it polishes, producing a high, dry, lasting lustre and bringing out the beauty of the grain.

O-Cedar Polish 30c. and 60c. a bottle, $1.50 to $3.50 a can.

O-Cedar Polish Mop, with 54-inch handle $2.00.

SOLDIER CANDIDATES.

To the Editor.—May I, as a woman, explain why I think every woman should vote in the coming provincial elections for a soldier candidate. Hitherto the majority of my sex have taken no interest in politics, therefore we are not hide-bound by party lines. We have heard the attacks of the party, and we have heard the counter-attacks of the opposition; and we see nothing done, so we just left the men to it.

But this whole thing is changed now, and who are the men best fitted to lead us now? It is said that we fought this war for true democracy. Then the men who must lead us to true democracy are the men who fought, (for it was among them we found the true men), the officer who thought of the comfort of the private, and the private who by in-born leadership rose to command laborer, artisan, business man, professional and aristocrat, side by side, shoulder to shoulder. Tom Dick and Harry, for the common cause—to make the world safe for your children and mine.

It may be said that I am a soldier's wife and am speaking only from that point of view. I am a soldier's wife (a volunteer of more than one campaign), and not only that, I am a daughter of a soldier and the granddaughter of a soldier (who have fought in four wars for this grand Empire of ours), also each of my brothers was in France, but I learned my lesson by living in England during the war. You should have heard the roar of the guns, the falling of the shrapnel, the cries of the maimed in the street, and see the destruction of homes, to realize what it really means and know that class legislation must go. This state has evolved out of the war, and you cannot stop evolution.

I see by this morning's paper that several Soldier-Labor candidates are being nominated, and that here in Oak Bay (Saanich) we are also to have one in the person of Captain M. A. Orford. To him personally I would say, fight clean but unafraid, as you did in France—fight for Labor (and by this I mean every producer), fight for the rights of every class, (not class against class); let your slogan be one of advancement and vision, (not Victoria the beautiful), and I feel sure you will have the backing and vote of every ex-service man and his wife, and every right thinking person in the community. You are a Crusader—against the hide-bound policy of the people who say "I have voted Conservative for twenty years, I have voted Liberal for thirty years." The old order must change (God grant the change may come to us peacefully), not by red blood, as in Russia. Take off your coat, and may God bless you in your fight.

EX-SERVICE MAN'S WIFE.
Victoria, October 20, 1920.

LABOR.

To the Editor.—Your paper of October 30 contained an account of the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, in which a delegate advocates political action of certain "unions," but the whole of the unions of Victoria not to be represented.

Let me ask, is the blind to lead the blind? At this time organized and unorganized labor should be united in one desperate effort to secure freedom from the shackles of slavery and try to liberate our brothers from behind the bars. We find him advocating a split in organized labor. If his scheme is not based on complete dishonesty enough, the fact is sure to follow.

Mr. Dakers said, "We are cursed with certain movements claiming they represent labor." He struck it right, but it is his movement, and not the Federated Labor Party that is a curse.

The Federated Labor Party is organized for the purpose of securing industrial legislation and the collective ownership and democratic operation of the means of wealth production.

The present methods of production are for profit, not use, and the result is starvation in the midst of plenty.

The class struggle must continue as long as there is two classes in society. The one weapon alone we can depend on is knowledge.

Let me ask Mr. Dakers who does he represent, the profiteer? who is labor's greatest enemy. For surely he cannot represent labor. A man cannot serve two masters.

EARL OF LYTON

GOES TO INDIA

New Under Secretary's Predecessor There Was a Native

London, Nov. 1.—Although a descendant of Edward Bulwer, the first Lord Lytton, a statesman and novelist, and himself a native of India, having been born in Simla, the winter capital of that country, in 1876, the Earl of Lytton, who has been appointed Under Secretary for India, succeeds to that office with no practical experience in Indian affairs. His knowledge of India is probably extensive, due to family association and through reading, but even that joined with his reputation as one of the ablest of the younger peers of England and his experience in other fields, will not save him from comparisons with his predecessor, Lord Sinha, whose high abilities won him the honor of being the first native to sit in the Viceroy's Council, representative for India in the Imperial War Conference, councillor for the Indian Government, Advocate General for Bengal, Freeman of the City of London in 1917, knighted in 1918, and created Baron of Rupur in 1919, when the post of Under Secretary was conferred to him.

The Earl is the second to hold the title, succeeding his father in 1891. He was Chairman of the Royal Commission for the Brussels, Rome and Turin Exhibitions in 1910 and 1911. Civil Lord of the Admiralty in 1916. Additional Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty in 1917. British Commissioner for Propaganda in France in 1918, and again Civil Lord of the Admiralty in 1918. He wrote the life of his distinguished father. His mother still lives, as Dowager Countess, and is nearly eighty. Her father was Edward Villiers, and her uncle the Earl of Clarendon. The Earl's eldest son, now seventeen, is Viscount Knebworth, the name of the family home in the English inland country of Hertfordshire. Gerald Balfour, brother of the famous Arthur J. Balfour, married Lady Betty, a sister of the Earl, and Lady Emily Lytton, another sister, is the wife of Sir Edwin L. Luytens, architect and artist.

SMALLEST NATION

HAS 23,000 PEOPLE

But Monaco's Entire Area Is Only Eight Square Miles

The red and white flag of Monaco flies over the smallest nation on earth. The entire area of Monaco is only eight square miles, but, although it is the smallest in area, there are three nations smaller in population.

It has 23,000 inhabitants as compared with 5,231 for Andorra; 10,716 for Liechtenstein, and 11,513 for San Marino. It is a small principality in the Mediterranean Sea.

From 985 A. D. to 1732 it belonged to the Grimaldi family, which was dispossessed during the French Revolution.

In 1814 Monaco was re-established under the protection of Sardinia, but in 1848 the towns of Mentone and Roccarua were withdrawn. The Sardinian garrison was withdrawn. The reigning prince was absolute monarch until 1911, when a representative government was set up.

San Marino claims to be the oldest state in Europe. It is the next smallest to Monaco in the world. Its coat of arms consists of three hills in gold on a field of blue. The upper part of the flag is blue and the lower part white, with the coat of arms centered on it.

Yellow and red colors are used in the flag of Liechtenstein, a nation of sixty-five square miles.

Andorra, the smallest in population, is also the youngest, being only fifty years old. The blue, yellow and red flag of Andorra has a coronet in the centre.—London Answers.

Girl Who Faced Life in Plaster Cast May Dance Soon

Woodbury, N. J., Nov. 1. — For three months Olive Rhodes, nineteen, whose back was broken in an automobile accident on July 7, faced the prospect of a life in a plaster cast. To-day, as the result of a remarkable operation performed here in the Underwood Hospital, she rejoices in the possibility of being fit for skating or dancing by New Year's.

Miss Rhodes lies in Pitman and is a stenographer in the Customs office of Campbell's Soup concern. She was riding in the automobile of Edward James of Pitman along the Woodbury Road when the machine collided with a horse-drawn cart, throwing James and the girl to the roadway. James was slightly injured, Miss Rhodes was brought to Woodbury and placed in Underwood Hospital, her back broken.

Dr. T. T. Rugh, Philadelphia surgeon, who has treated similar cases, had her placed in a plaster cast preliminary to a grafting operation.

The surgeon, assisted by Drs. J. Harris Underwood, Harry A. Stout, H. Wilson Stout and Oram Kline, removed the affected vertebrae and transferred in their place a section of the girl's shinbone.

The grafting process and the entire operation took only an hour, in which time the patient was under an anesthetic. No complications have set in and Miss Rhodes to-day said she was feeling more comfortable and cheerful than at any time since the accident.

She will continue in the plaster cast about six weeks. In December she is expected to be able to walk and by the end of the month probably will be able to display her former activity.

MAJOR SPEAKS, BUT RAISES TURMOIL

Theatre Meeting Was Continuous Uproar Against Lee Redman

Major Lee Redman, M. P. for East Calgary, was given a tolerant hearing at the Empress Hotel, where he spoke first, but he had no sooner started at the Royal Victoria after Premier Meighen had finished when cries of "Aw, sit down," and personal remarks began to come from all parts of the audience. He defied his interruptors, however, and kept on speaking through the turmoil.

When he started to talk about gratuities somebody asked about Harry Flynn.

"Harry Flynn was going to give everybody $2,000," said the Major. "How was he going to raise the money? First, he was going to have public lotteries; second, theatres run on Sunday and the proceeds to go to the Government; third, he was going to have the liquor traffic run by the Government (cheers)."

"This is the way Harry Flynn, an American born in New York, was going to pay you $2,000."

"Yes, but he fought for Canada," came the reply from the audience, which would not let the Major go on for a couple of minutes.

Worked While Others Made Noise.

A little later a voice asked: "How do you like Victoria now that it is wet?"

"Are you the comedian in this town," replied the Major.

Asked what he has been doing he said:

"I was working down at Ottawa to raise pensions while you fellows were making a noise."

Then a woman in the audience wanted to know why the Government had not carried out the pledge implied when Sir Robert Borden addressed the troops and said: "Go ahead boys, the country is yours."

"Have you kept faith?" this woman asked Major Redman.

"I don't think that anybody can keep faith with the dead in Flanders," replied the Major. "We have done all we could, more than any other country in the world, although we cannot replace the waste, and I think on the whole we have done it successfully."

Major Redman first spoke on the question of gratuities. He said that Canada had spent $250,000,000 in gratuities, and that the system in force in this country with respect to gratuities was more generous than that prevailing in any other country.

"What about Australia?" someone asked.

"I'll tell you about Australia," he replied. "The unmarried man who served in the army for three years receives from the Australian government the sum of $273.82 as gratuity. In Canada the same man in similar circumstances gets $426. The married man in Australia receives $239. In Canada what he gets is $699. I repeat that Canada has been more generous than any other country, and you can see how we compare with Australia."

Major Redman referred to the Flynn scheme of giving a cash gratuity of $2,000. He ridiculed it; said the country could never raise such an amount without imposing an unbearable burden on the people as a whole.

Vocational Training.

When he announced that he would touch upon the subject of vocational training, someone shouted:

"Will you deny that vocational training is simply a waste of public money, when the government tries to train a man, whose nerves are shattered, in eight months for a trade that requires five or seven years of training for the normal man?"

"The government has tried to do its best for the disabled soldier," said Major Redman. "They have conceived it to be their duty to do as much as possible in the way of training men who were disabled in battle for trades in which they may be able to find livelihood. Perhaps the government has not met with success in every case, but a very large proportion of the men who have received vocational training have already made a good job. I should say at least eighty per cent."

There was more interruption, and the member asked:

"Have you a real objection to the government trying to train these men? Don't you agree with the government that these men are the first charge upon the country—these men and their dependents? One hundred and seventy-five soldiers have received positions as a result of the work accomplished by the government. Have you any objection to that? Three hundred and seventy-five men have received benefits. Didn't they deserve them?"

First Insurance Scheme.

"Canada was the first of the belligerent countries to bring in a system of insurance for soldiers," continued the speaker. "The government took the view, which I think was the right one, that a disabled soldier could not get liberal treatment from the insurance companies, because of the unfavorable medical report that would be made against him. The

The answer of most fat people is that exercise and dieting is too hard, too troublesome and too dangerous a method to force the weight down. However, in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or strenuous exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. One little tablet after each meal and at bedtime—as pleasant to eat as candy—will reduce your weight two, three or four pounds a week and leave no bad results such as wrinkles or flabby skin. A good size box is sold by druggists at the reasonable price of one dollar, or if preferable they may be obtained by sending the amount to the Marmola Co., 94 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich. They will reach you by mail, prepaid, in plain, sealed cover. Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduce two, three or four pounds a week without fear of bad after-effects.

scheme now in operation provides for insurance up to $5,000 for each applicant under the Act, and the insurance is given without medical inspection, without any payment of overhead costs. The rates are the cheapest in the world.

"The people of this country have got to get behind their government if they want it to go forward and treat returned soldier problems in the proper way. If the country is for these plans for the betterment of the returned soldier, the plans will be carried out. But there are some returned soldiers in Canada who are doing more harm than good." (Applause.)

Ready to Improve.

"I've got a little bit of respect for the soldiers of Canada," he went on. "More than 90 per cent of them I know will act fairly and reasonably and they expect the other fellow to act in the same way towards them. I don't believe that one per cent of them are acting in a way that is a disgrace to the whole body of returned men by making a lot of noise over nothing."

"While we've been down at Ottawa for three years trying to get improved laws for the returned men, the biggest handicap we have been forced to work under has been the trouble raised by Flynn and men of that sort."

"Why doesn't the Government make the vocational training course for eighteen months instead of eight months?" asked the party, who had shown interest in this subject before.

"The door is always open for suggestions," responded Major Redman. "The door will be open no matter how many demands may be made. The Government is ready and willing to help you. Now I'm going to tell you something about the land settlement policy."

Land Settlement.

He started in again. "This is the first country that adopted a comprehensive land settlement scheme," he said. "And made a mess of it." Came from the gallery. Major Redman said that there had been 65,000 applications for loans and some 45,000 had been passed. The average loan amounted to $2,500, and $75,000,000 had been set aside for this purpose by the nation. Two million acres of land had been titled as a result of these loans. In British Columbia, he pointed out, $13,000,000 had been spent for soldier-settlement work, and this expenditure had benefited the whole Province.

Pension Situation.

"We have got to the stage now where 99 per cent of all the money paid on pensions is on an equality basis. All ranks up to and including lieutenants get the same pension. The small portion of the total being paid to superior officers would only amount to ten cents per man if distributed to everyone receiving pensions. At the same time I think the principle of equal pensions is the right one. The pension system practised is that officers who went to France had a certain pension and they had a right to expect similar treatment when they got back. The Government considered it would be unwise to break faith with a few men when such action would benefit others to such a small degree. Canada is paying to-day the highest pensions in the world. I will vote for the bonus instead of the steady pension if the veterans want it. The way I look at it is this: Every year the pensions committee meets and the system is under review. Every year the recipient of a pension has a chance to have his pension increased, isn't that better than to take a chance with a fixed bonus? The present pension system provides for every member of a soldier's family except his mother-in-law," he added, with a laugh. "One hundred and seventy-seven thousand people are receiving pensions in Canada now."

Criticize Pensions.

"A mere pittance," someone in the crowd called out.

"Well now, it isn't a pittance," said the Major. "It is based on the cost of living, and, as I say, is subject to revision annually. I'll admit the pensions won't allow of luxuries."

"They won't even pay the rent," a man yelled, and there was more disturbance.

"Let me tell you that I was working for higher pensions when a lot of you were making a noise."

Major Redman was subject to further interruptions in concluding his speech.
